Egypt, Britain Sign Pact For Withdrawal

By ROBERT HEWETT

CAIRO, Egypt, Oct. 19 (AP)—Under close security guard, British and Egyptian diplomats tonight signed a historic treaty to end Britain's occupation of the Suez Canal zone within 20 months. A proclamation held Egyptian police and armed forces in a state of alert after alleged agents of the Communists and the fanatical Moslem Brotherhood had stoned and wrecked two buses near Cairo.

Officials said the alerting proclamation was merely precautionary. They explained the incident that prompted it occurred at a youth rally held in the Giza area near the Great Pyramid to celebrate the end of 72 years of British military activity in Egypt. A few persons were reported injured and several were arrested for questioning.

The treaty calling for withdrawal of the 83,000 British troops was signed by the Egyptian Premier, Lt. Col. Gamal Abdel Nasser, whose army coup dethroned King Farouk Aug. 26, 1952, and Anthony Nutting, British minister of state.

Tonight's ceremony climaxed months of hard bargaining. The signing came 12 weeks after agreement was reached in principle on the broad terms. These include the right of the British to return to the base at any time within the next seven years if an outside power attacks Turkey or any Arab state. The two countries will decide during the seventh year whether they want to extend the treaty.

Even after the troops pull out, British civilian contractors will maintain 13 selected installations under overall Egyptian administration of the canal zone. This arrangement will last for seven years.

All financial claims to the area are waived by both countries.

Man Kills Wife, Three Children, Brother, Himself

HATTIESBURG, Miss., Oct. 19 (AP)—O. L. Pearce, 35, Perry County Soil conservation worker, today killed his wife, his three small children and his brother and then committed suicide.

Perry County Sheriff De Hammett identified Pearce's victims as Mrs. Avis Pearce, 32, Charles E. Elaine, 4, Frida, 3, and Lorenzo Pearce, 49.

Lorenzo's body was found at 2:30 p.m., more than two hours after the bodies of the others were discovered in the bedroom of their home, 25 miles southeast of Hattiesburg.

Officers found the brother's body in the woods some 10 miles away.

U.N. Committee Rejects Soviet Demands To Debate U.S. Air Activity Off China

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Oct. 19 (AP)—The U. N. Assembly Steering Committee decisively rejected Soviet demands today for immediate debate on American air and sea activity around Formosa and the ocean off the Red China mainland.

It voted 12-2 to postpone the question for 14 days after new and bitter exchanges in the committee between U. S. delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. and Russia's Andrei Y. Vishinsky. Russia and Czechoslovakia voted against the delay.

Lodge said the United States is willing and ready to put the question on the Assembly work program or to postpone it—whatever the rest of the committee wanted. But he asked the committee whether Russian attack on the United States didn't mask another Communist aggression in the making.

France's Henri Hoppenot, supporting the delay move, hinted mysteriously that in a fortnight "events in Europe or here" might have taken a turn that will influence Vishinsky not to press his point. He did not explain what he meant although Vishinsky asked him to.

T. F. Tsang, Nationalist China delegate, said he would vote against putting the question on the agenda because U.S. relations with his country could not be classed as aggression.

Sen. Ives Charges Harriman Involved In $250,000 Pier Scandal With Tammany Hall

NEW YORK, Oct. 19 (AP)—Sen. Irving M. Ives charged tonight that Averell Harriman, his rival for the governorship, was involved in the mid-1920's in a $250,000 pier lease scandal with Tammany Hall. Harriman denied it.

The Republican said Harriman, Democrat-Liberal nominee, headed a shipping company that paid the pier for leases on two city-owned piers.

Harriman retorted that he never paid or knew of any improper payments to anyone in connection with any pier lease or any other matter.

He, in turn, accused Ives of waging a "slandering attack on my personal integrity" in a "desperate effort to bolster his faltering campaign."

Ives asked his listeners to decide whether Harriman "is fit to be governor of New York."

Ives said that a shipping company in which Harriman had an interest had paid out the $250,000 to a law clerk in the office of a Brooklyn judge to obtain a lease on docks controlled by Tammany Hall.

Ives said that Harriman at the time asserted he knew nothing whatsoever about the deal. "I tell you, that you can't trust the business of the state to a man who says he didn't know what happened to a quarter of a million dollars of his own company's money paid to a corrupt judge," Ives said.

"The important thing is not whether Harriman told the truth or whether he didn't. The important thing is that you can be sure that if he is elected, Tammy Hall will make away with everything in the state except the steps of the state capitol."

Apparently the judge to whom Ives referred was W. Bernard Vause, who was sentenced on July 30, 1930, to six years for conspiracy and use of the mails to defraud in connection with the Columbia Finance Corp. case.

Norton Resigns Lafayette Post

EASTON, Oct. 19 (AP)—Lafayette College today announced that Theodore E. Norton—recently named as a present or former Communist—had resigned as librarian of the college, a post he has held since 1931.

Norton was one of more than 200 residents named in testimony by Herman Thomas of Allentown before the Senate Internal Security Committee last week as either present or former Communists. Norton frequently has denied Communist affiliations.

Driverless Car Takes Own Little Jaunt; Couple Recalls Like Incident 24 Years Ago

IT'S ONE OF those screwy stories about a car that took off with nobody inside.

This one, owned by Mr. and Mrs. David Bernbaum, went straight home like a good car should.

Mrs. Bernbaum parked in front of East Stroudsburg Postoffice and went inside about 3:50 p. m. yesterday. After a few minutes she came out. The car was gone. "David's so impatient," she thought, "why couldn't he have waited for the car?"

Meanwhile David had stepped outside Star Furniture store which he operates on S. Courtland St., and wondered what in the world his car was doing up against the garage doors of the store like that.

Police and eyewitnesses helped solve the mystery. The car had somehow come un-braked, rolled down Analomink from the post-office, crossed S. Courtland St., bearing left as it went, jumped the curb, passed neatly between a parking meter and a telephone pole, and banged into the garage doors.

It took a wrecker to tow the car out safely. Damage was

Girl Named Star Witness Against Doctor

By ARTHUR EVERETT

CLEVELAND, Oct. 19 (AP)—The defense heatedly charged today that sex in the person of pretty, young Susan Hayes is the heart of the murder case against Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard.

"Some people consider a sexual crime or sex deviation even worse than murder," said defense Atty. William J. Corrigan in an argument over his examination of prospective jurors.

However, Common Pleas Judge Edward Blythin disagreed and told the lawyer:

Sam Sheppard murdered Marilyn Sheppard, that's the principal question. We're not trying anyone for any sex offense here."

(Inflection of the judge's voice indicated he intended the first sentence as an inquiry rather than a statement of fact.)

"Oh, yes we are," replied Corrigan, his voice rising.

Sheppard, 30, is on trial for his life. He is accused of bludgeoning to death his blonde, pregnant wife, Marilyn, 31, after a love affair with Miss Hayes, 24, a technician who formerly worked with Sheppard in his family's osteopathic hospital just outside Cleveland.

Sheppard has pleaded innocent to murder. Corrigan called Miss Hayes the "star witness in the case." She is due to testify later for the state.

Her name was put on the record twice today. The defense was trying to determine if any prospective jurors might be unduly influenced by testimony of adultery between Miss Hayes and Sheppard.

Three jurors had been selected at the end of the second day of the trial. One was selected yesterday. Two were accepted today.

The defense lawyer was questioning the third juror to be seated in the case, Edmund L. Verlinger, 29, a combat veteran and hardware store manager.

"Did you ever hear of Susan Hayes?" asked Corrigan. "Not until just recently," replied Verlinger. "You read it in the papers?" Corrigan continued. "Yes," Verlinger said.

Dulles Leaves For Meetings

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles left for Paris today, cautiously hopeful that France will agree in a series of meetings beginning tomorrow to a decision on arming West Germany as a fulfilled partner in the Atlantic alliance.

Dulles said there are "many difficult problems" to be solved in working out the package deal under which West Germany will soon begin forming a dozen divisions. But he declared that these problems can be solved provided European leaders tackle them with a spirit of cooperation and "a sense of high responsibility."

The conferences will build up into a decisive meeting of North Atlantic Council members on Friday.

Dulles promised that the United States will give "sympathetic and responsive" attention to whatever action the Europeans take for strengthening their own unity and power.

Students Found Guilty

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 19 (AP)—Three Tulane University students were convicted today of disturbing the peace following a party raid by 500 male students at a girls' dormitory on the Tulane campus.

The older brother explained after the accident, which occurred Monday, that he had had Scotty put his head on a chopping block so he could cut his hair with a hand ax. It was a close shave.

Phone Service Nears Normal

BELL TELEPHONE service was "back to normal" last night, except for a handful of customers, according to Budd Van Horn, company manager.

Extra crews from out of town will leave this morning, Van Horn said. There were more than 70 extra men on the job here after the destruction vented on the area by Hurricane Hazel.

Narrow Escape

CHICAGO, Oct. 19 (AP)—A Chicago and North Western Railway commuter train sheared a stalled bus in two today—minutes after its eight passengers had escaped.

COMMUNITY CHEST CONTRIBUTIONS have now swelled the Chest total to $27,421 or 41 per cent of its total 1954 goal. The third regular report meeting was held yesterday with these persons in attendance: reading, clockwise around table—Ethel D. West, Elton Hall, Walter Wyckoff, Frank Lanterman, Bob Altomose and William Wells. Next meeting: next Tuesday. (Staff Photo by Randolph)

Chest Collects $27,421 In Campaign For $66,520

MONROE COUNTY Community Chest reached 41 per cent of its goal yesterday, according to figures shown at the third weekly report meeting.

Total amount collected so far is $27,421. The Chest's 1954 goal is $66,520.

Chest Campaign Chairman Walter Wyckoff, in announcing the total, urged all current campaign workers to make a double effort to bring in collections during the days and weeks to come.

Noting the enthusiasm among workers so far, Wyckoff commended all those in several divisions which have made reports for their untiring efforts in behalf of the Chest drive.

Among those attending the hour-long report meeting were Wyckoff; Chest President Elton Hall; Robert Altomose, industrial division; Frank Lanterman, East Stroudsburg public service; William Wells, Stroudsburg trades and Ethel D. West, Chest executive secretary.

The fourth weekly Chest report meeting will be held next Tuesday, Oct. 26, at the Penn-Stroud.

Progress Made On Saar Issue

PARIS, Oct. 19 (AP)—French officials tonight reported some progress was made toward solving the status of the Saar valley. The report came after six hours of conferences between Premier Pierre Mendes-France and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

The two statesmen ranged over problems standing in the way of West German sovereignty and rearmament.

A communique issued by the French said in connection with the Saar dispute:

"Some progress was accomplished in the course of this first exchange of views which will be followed by other conversations in the course of the present week as the work of experts advances."

Today's conference was the curtain raiser for a series of big power meetings designed to bring West Germany into a strengthened Brussels alliance and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Boy Experiences 'Close Shave'

ANACORTES, Wash., Oct. 19 (AP)—As Mrs. Richard Tweten drove frantically to a doctor's office to have eight stitches taken in the head of her 18-month-old son, Scotty, his 3-year-old brother explained:

"Gee, mom, he just wouldn't hold still."

The older brother explained after the accident, which occurred Monday, that he had had Scotty put his head on a chopping block so he could cut his hair with a hand ax. It was a close shave.

False Advertising Charged To Health Insurance Firms

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19 (AP)—The government accused 17 of the nation's health, hospital and accident insurance companies today of misrepresenting benefits they offer millions of customers.

Chairman Edward F. Hoover of the Federal Trade Commission announced the complaints, charging:

1. Policy termination provisions. It said a typical claim of "no automatic termination age" conflicted with the fact that most policies "are renewable solely at the option of the company."

2. Extent of coverage. A typical claim is "it pays you up to $15 a day for 100 hospital days—for each sickness or accident." As a matter of fact, the FTC said, there are "many cases of accident or sickness for which policies so represented do not provide payment."

3. Maximum dollar limits. Citing such claims as "we pay up to $525 for each surgical operation," the FTC said "actually, many policies provide that the full amount is payable only for one or two comparatively rare operations."

4. Beginning time of coverage. "Certain companies represent that the coverage is effective at the date of issuance when actually, coverage for many sicknesses is delayed until the policy has been in effect for a specified period of time—for example, six months in the case of tuberculosis or heart disease."

Progressive Candidates Knew Party Red-Ruled, Senate Told

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19 (AP)—The Senate Internal Security subcommittee today made public sworn testimony that Henry A. Wallace and Glen Taylor headed the Progressive party ticket in 1948 "with full knowledge" the party was under Communist control.

Wallace is a former Democratic vice president. Taylor is now seeking election as Democratic senator from Idaho. He had served a prior term as senator.

The testimony naming them was taken at a closed-door hearing Oct. 7 from Matthew Cvetie, a former FBI undercover man, and John Lautner, a former Communist now a consultant to the Justice Department.

The official transcript quoted Cvetie as swearing that Wallace was chosen as the Progressive party's presidential nominee and

East Borough To Meet With Five Boards

SIX SCHOOL districts agreed last night to begin a thorough investigation of the possibility of a jointure.

At a meeting in East Stroudsburg Junior High School, board members from Smithfield, Middle Smithfield and Price Townships in Monroe County and Porter and Lehman Townships in Pike decided to begin a series of discussion meetings next month.

The proposed jointure would include those districts and East Stroudsburg. Tuition students from the five districts have been attending the East borough schools for several years.

East Stroudsburg Supervising Principal Carl Secor presided at last night's meeting—the semi-annual dinner given by that borough's school board in honor of boards sending students to the schools.

The move to discuss a possible jointure followed a report by Secor on the increase in pupil population in the borough's school system.

This year, Secor said, the school system had a total of 1551 students. Increases in secondary school enrollment had been most noticeable during the past two years and would become more sharp in the near future, he said.

Last year, Secor pointed out, the borough system had 668 secondary students. This year the number had risen to 772.

By the Fall of 1956 or next year, Secor said, the system will have to make room for an estimated 825 students in secondary school—including the tuition students.

Equally sharp increases in elementary school enrollments have also been noted, he pointed out.

"One of our greatest problems in this expanding movement of secondary education is simply 'What are we going to do with the students?'" Secor said.

The East Stroudsburg School Board had discussed the matter at length, Secor said, but had arrived at no decision and did not intend to make any decision until all the boards could sit down together and go over the problem.

"I believe we'll have to put our heads together and reach a solution," he said.

Those who were acquainted with the financial set-up of the individual boards "knows by now that no one district can build its own secondary building," he said. Population in nearly all the districts is now growing, he said, and the need for a solution is now a necessity—"it is no longer something we can say 'we'll solve tomorrow.'"

Emphasizing constantly that the East Stroudsburg board to press an issue upon the remaining boards unless they wished to discuss it themselves, Secor then introduced Monroe School Superintendent John C. Litts, who was asked to explain the various school district combinations and their differing points.

Litts said there are three ways in which the State offers aid in financing a building program for district combinations—union, merger and jointure. He asked Pike Superintendent R. Lloyd Jones to outline the new Delaware Joint School district.

Jones said the Delaware joint board was set up in its final form in April, this year when Matamoras borough joined forces with Dingman, Milford, Delaware and Westfall.

The Delaware joint board has operated with its full 25 members sitting at each meeting and "it hasn't been difficult," he said.

Secor asked for questions from the board members attending. The questions were answered by Litts and Jones. Most of them centered on the financial advantages to the districts made possible through payment of subsidies by the State.

Herbert Young, Porter Township board member, asked if the East Stroudsburg board had a proposal to make.

"Our board has discussed this at great length," Secor said. "We had hoped other districts might sit down with us and go over figures for jointure—in other words we want to start right from scratch and pool our thinking on the problem."

"Now it's up to you as members of the individual boards. Do you want to go into these discussions with us? Speaking for the board of education of East Stroudsburg, I know we are ready to sit down

Child Guidance Center Newest Agency Of Chest

(This is the fifth in a series of stories based on actual work done by the 12 member agencies of your Community Chest. Each is devoted to one isolated case—but each is also typical of the valuable work done by all of the agencies. Today's story comes from the files of the Child Guidance Center which was admitted to Chest membership for the first time this year. The center is located in Easton but it serves both Northampton and Monroe Counties. The names of persons and events have been disguised in the present story.)

By Leonard Randolph

THE HEADLINE in the morning paper screamed "City Caught In Juvenile Crime Wave." There were stories of three "muggings", a bank robbery, a petty theft—and a completely unmotivated "thrill killing."

Harry Weinter put the newspaper down in disgust. For the second time in the same number of days, he was happy to be going back to Monroe county, to the peacefulness and comparative simplicity of his home town.

The metropolitan newspaper he had picked up in the Hoboken terminal had made Harry a little sick to his stomach. Kids, he said to himself. They're nuts these days.

Harry had a son—James—who was 12 years old. He was an "only child." Harry and his wife, Alma, had decided not to have any more children. The decision was based on a very simple problem—Harry was a travelling representative for a Michigan paper firm.

As such he spent nearly 11½ months out of every year away from his home. Alma was left with the sole responsibility of bringing up the child.

Harry stretched out in the train seat, letting his feet disappear under the empty seat across from him. The coach was nearly empty. For the first time in two months Harry Weinter devoted his thoughts to his family—and to his son, Jim.

Jim was a funny kid. Like the last time Harry had been home. The boy had been quiet all the time he was there. He'd ask him a question about school and the boy would answer and shut up.

Not that there was anything wrong with having him shut up. A man likes a little peace and quiet when he comes home to rest for a weekend. And there was nothing wrong with the answer the kid gave, either—good, straight answers. No mish-mosh.

Harry fumbled in his pocket and put a match to his fourth cigarette for the day. Six more to go, he thought, and I'll have to stop smoking until tomorrow.

Harry had harbored a secret longing in his heart for several years that Jim would grow up to be a football player—big and strong and husky. Now it had begun to look like the dream was dead.

He could remember the last visit home, how puny the boy had looked and the way he seemed to sit and watch his father, waiting for a chance to get away. Harry sighed and closed his eyes.

There had been a note of urgency in Alma's letter to him. Sounded as though the kid might be in trouble. But he had made up his mind not to worry about it until the weekend.

He'd had a chance to sell that advertising firm on a paper contract. And the deal had gone through. Right on schedule, too. There was a great sense of satisfaction in putting a business deal over, Harry thought.

For a few seconds he entertained an idea that his son might some day grow up to take over his job with the paper company. Unless there was something really serious the matter with the boy.

It never occurred to him that it had taken an urgent letter from his wife, loaded with alarm, to make him think seriously of his son's future for the first time in months.

When Harry was working—and that was most of the time—there was only one thing that mattered: his job.

For a long time, perhaps even most of his life, there had been nothing seriously "wrong" with Jim Weinter.

Until four years ago he had lived in a large city. He had grown up in a "good" neighborhood. His main trouble had been in matters of discipline—he was unruly in school, totally unmanageable at home.

When Jim and his mother had moved to Monroe County (his father was in Cleveland "closing a deal") his attitude had become progressively worse. His teachers tried hard to understand Jim's outbursts of temper, his belliger-ence and refusal to follow orders of any kind. But unless understanding is met by grateful response it is worthless in the end.

Until two weeks before Jim's greatest "problem" had seemed to be his constant fighting. In one week he was involved in fights with four separate boys—one of them smaller and younger than himself.

In an effort to understand Jim's problem, one of the teachers had gone to visit Alma Weinter at her home. He had come away with a definite idea that Jim's hatred for people could be traced to his home life—to the fact that his mother yelled at him and badgered him constantly and without noticeable effect.

But the teacher could not tell—and had no way of finding—the myriad causes of Jim's reactions. Alma Weinter was one of the basic contributors to Jim's disturbance, but there was more to the story.

After his visit to the home, the teacher asked the school doctor to examine Jim. The doctor, after a thorough physical examination of the boy, decided to talk with Jim at a series of appointments. This he did.

When the talks were completed, the doctor recommended to school officials that Jim be referred to the Child Guidance Center in Easton. Serving both Monroe and Northampton counties, the center is one of 12 member agencies of the Community Chest in Monroe County. It was admitted to membership this year.

One of the main reasons the doctor asked that Jim's case be referred to the center was that Jim had been stealing things which belonged to fellow students. Nothing of great value was involved in the thefts—but the doctor and school officials knew that something must be done immediately to find the cause of Jim Weinter's trouble.

The Child Guidance Center at 220 Bushkill St. in Easton is often thought of as an agency dealing entirely in the psychology of childhood mental and emotional disturbance.

Although much of the center's effort is directed toward finding the root of emotional troubles in children, the center is interested primarily in the "whole child." At times, during psychological testing or psychiatric interviews, the doctor or case worker in charge may discover there is something physically wrong with the child under discussion. These matters are also noted and some solution is attempted.

Jim Weinter arrived at the center about a month after he had been caught stealing. It was to be the first in a series of weekend interviews.

At the request of the doctor in charge of the center, Alma was with her son. Since the success or failure of the case study depends largely on the cooperation of the parents, the Center values the presence of the mother or father (or both) highly.

Jim's first "interview" was almost disastrous. Sullen, disagreeable, often vicious in his responses to efforts of friendliness by the doctor, Jim finally refused to say anything or do anything.

The doctor abruptly terminated the "interview"—although only about ten minutes had been spent and little had been accomplished. He knew that Jim had expected an argument or a shout, when he failed to talk—but the argument had not developed and the shout had not been heard.

Instead the man was thanking Jim for coming and asking him to come back in a week.

At the door, Jim's eyes lost a little of their suspicion when the doctor shook hands with him. Trust is a hard thing to bargain

Why Not Support The Chest!

Labor's decision—at least some of labor—to abstain from contributing to the current Community Chest campaign has as its reason the labor dispute involving the YMCA.

That has been the understanding of the entire community—union and non-union.

But is union labor opposed to the actual youth welfare services performed by the YMCA? Are the families in the union community opposed to the program for the Y's several youth groups—divided according to age and sex with competent youth guidance and welfare workers at the helm?

We don't think so. In fact, several union workers, including some leaders of union organizations, have told us they are not opposed to the YMCA's program, as such. Some of them have children who are receiving the benefits of the YMCA's program.

In view of this, we delved deeper into union labor's "abstinence" from contributing to Community Chest. We discovered that some union people—and perhaps there are many—somehow or other had the idea that Community Chest monies allocated to the YMCA go towards the Y's building, or construction fund.

Nothing could be further from the TRUE facts.

Constitution and by-laws of Community Chest expressly confine use of Chest funds to "operational" activities of each and every one of the 12 member agencies. None of these funds dare go toward such "capital" expenditures as construction of new buildings, etc.

To make certain that is carried out, each of the agencies first submits its case to the Chest Social Planning Committee. That committee makes an exhaustive study of the agency to determine one thing—NEED.

Before the agency's case gets before the Chest Budget Committee—this NEED is established. Anything like monies going toward a new building is caught here, for only operational needs are considered.

Next the agency—the YMCA for instance—submits its request for funds to the Budget Committee of the Chest. Here, in the presence of 15 people, every item of the agency's budget request is carefully scrutinized. Minutes of every phase of that scrutiny are kept—and can be checked.

Sitting with the Budget Committee is the head of the Social Planning Committee who advises Budget Committee members of the findings of that body's investigation of the agency.

Nothing is left to chance. It is all investigated. It is all out on the board for scrutiny.

Now let's see what happened in the case of the YMCA this year insofar as Social Planning and Budget Committees are concerned.

The YMCA asked for $13,241. Studies by the Social Planning Committee resulted in this decision:

Since there is no YMCA building to operate, Community Chest had no right to go before the people who give to the Chest with approval of that much money. In other words Social Planning determined that amount of NEED did not exist at this time.

Going right down the line with this reasoning to the Budget Committee, it was determined that $10,500 would be sufficient for operational expenses of the YMCA program—carried on in full detail, but under emergency conditions requiring use of other headquarters here and there.

That same procedure was applied to every Chest agency. There were others scrutinized by the Social Planning Committee to establish NEED. Then Social Planning's collaborative work with Budget Committee resulted in agency requests being cut to fit the situation.

We can imagine that not many people realize, or fully understand, the careful processes followed to reach a total budget figure which can be soundly placed before the people of Monroe County, without fear of contradiction, and in all fairness to those who give and those who receive.

Any member of any union can confirm any and all of these processes from minutes of the Community Chest and its committees.

Labor unions in Monroe County—we say again—over the past years have established a reputation for fair dealing.

In this instance we are convinced they had no accurate understanding of Chest functioning to protect every giver from contributing toward anything except that which went directly to the welfare, health or aid of themselves and their neighbors.

Remember, not one penny contributed to the Chest this year, or any other year, goes towards a capital expenditure for any agency—including the YMCA building fund.

In view of these facts we once again call on all labor to support Community Chest.

George Sokolsky Says...

It Is Stupid To Believe Spies Uncovered Not Replaced By Others Now Operating

Nations during war and peace have always employed spies of one kind or another. Generally, while the espionage is welcome the spies are not always unsavory persons. They are often suspected of selling whatever information they collect to both sides.

The most modern practice is to organize espionage professionally because so many technical phases are involved, including the stealing and breaking of codes. All espionage work of the American Government is centered in the C. I. A. The Russians not only employ the MYD (formerly NKVD and the GPU) for this purpose but also the Fourth Bureau of the Army and the International Communist organization. There is an extremely complicated enterprise. Espionage is an ordinary operation of statecraft and each spy is an expendable person. Noel and Hermann Field, Americans, were believed by the Russians to have been double or triple agents. They are probably dead. Whitaker Chambers and Elizabeth Bentley have told their story and several Americans are in prison because of them, including Alger Hiss. However, espionage organizations are built on the assumption that here and there a spy will betray his employers or will disappear off the face of the earth. Such persons are immediately replaced and the work goes on.

It is stupid to believe that because some have been uncovered in this country or in Great Britain or France that others have not gone to work in their stead. Both espionage and counter-espionage must be continuing jobs. For instance, it must be assumed that someone took the place of Dr. Otto John in West Germany. He may even have trained his successor.

The current explosion over espionage in France is more serious than usual because such important figures are involved, but those in France are not in more important posts than Harry Dexter White held or than some of the 39 Americans in the United Nations, who were brought before the Federal Grand Jury in New York or before the McCarran Committee, held.

It is very difficult to prove espionage in a country such as ours because spies naturally do not arrange to be caught. Abraham Brothman, for instance, was engaged in "industrial espionage," was convicted, not for espionage, but for obstructing justice in the Harry Gold case. Julius and Ethel Rosenberg were condemned to death for their espionage activities, but Dr. Klaus Fuchs only got a sentence of 14 years in England for doing the same thing. True Fuchs confessed and the Rosenbergs did not, but without Fuchs's confession the Gold-Greenglass-Rosenberg outfit in this country might never have been convicted. As a matter of fact, the FBI and the United States Attorney in New York came close to them several years before they were actually indicted and always failed to make the connection. The case of Joseph Petersen, research analyst of the National Security Agency, which has to do with secret codes, is still in the hush-hush stage because a friendly power is involved, according to the best information available at the moment. We do not even know what he is actually involved for. What seems to be involved is that agents placed in right spots with friendly powers can receive data for the use of an unfriendly power. By this system of indirectness, a cover is provided both for the spy in this country and the spies in some other country because contact with the enemy is never provable. It means that there can be no security in such an international body as NATO. If information and data that must be passed among allies can be diverted to the enemy, the danger to successful united action is very great, indeed.

For instance, if what we told our allies during the Korean War was repeated to the Kremlin, it is sound to assume that such a Red Chinese commander as Lin Piao knew what was to happen before MacArthur did. General MacArthur was puzzled by this condition which he recognized, but he was not aware of the mechanism for the leak. The disappearance of Guy Burgess and Donald MacLean, British Foreign Office men of importance, behind the Iron Curtain may never be correctly explained, but the accepted inference is that they were engaged in espionage and if so, their knowledge was sufficiently important to have them removed from detention and imprisonment in their own country.

Billy Davis and Dr. Joe Warren, who, the night before he was killed at Bunker Hill, said to Betsy Palmer, "Drink a glass of wine with me for tomorrow I am going on the hill, and I shall never come off alive." These fellows and all those who battled at Lexington, Concord and Bunker Hill constituted the first "All American" team. They stand on the official lineup in the battle that put Uncle Sam in the big league. They could now "em down, hold steadfast when the situation called for clutch pitching and keep cool in the desperate moments. They could "go on the hill," as can Antonelli in the do-or-die spirit.

The Once Over

—by H. I. Phillips

The Unseen Bulfinch Johnny Antonelli, just voted one of the world's two best pitchers in a press poll, got the news in the historic Lexington and Medford, Mass., area where he lives. Here we have the hero of the last world series and the toast of the hot stove leagues this winter, a kid influenced by the historic regions of the American Revolution, and we now call upon the official scorers to give an "assist" to the Minutemen and the Embattled Farmers. Nobody has put Lexington and Medford back on the map so prominently since Paul Revere and Longfellow. Give Revere an "assist" in the series, too, say we. (If his horse were alive we would cut him in on the series "hay," too.) Johnny has roamed the hallowed country. We like to think that Johnny absorbed the dauntless spirit of Revere, Captain Prescott,

Looking At Life

Cut Delinquency By Making Child Feel He's Important

IT HAD BEEN my full intention to write no more about juvenile delinquency. I figured that there has been enough about it in the papers and that, perhaps, the problem would eventually take care of itself.

After all, I thought, maybe juvenile delinquency is one of those diseases that break out violently from time to time, then abate and finally disappear entirely as national or public problems.

However, it seems that my readers are very much concerned with this question, and I receive so much mail on it, that I want to give you some of their ideas, at least as far as they seem to be new.

One of my readers objects violently to the idea of withholding the names of juveniles on the ground of age.

"As long as juvenile delinquency is really parental delinquency," she writes, "why spare the child's parents? Nothing is as effective as publicity. If parents let a child of theirs go wrong, make their neglect known to the world. Let everyone in their community know what kind of parents they are. That is the way to do away with juvenile delinquency, not by coddling and protecting them."

This reader requests—and she underlines the request three times—that I make no mention of her name or residence. Thus she wants to take advantage of the very protection she wants to deny to the delinquents.

However, I would like to know how you folks feel about what she says. Should the names of juvenile delinquents be published, or should they be withheld?

Another idea comes from a Mrs. Helen Hiza of Fairfield, Conn. She says "OK to publish name and letter."

"It seems to me," she writes, "that too many times when Pop has a chore to do, he wants his youngsters miles away, and of course a parent showing that attitude to his toddler will still feel that way when the boy is in his teens. Most of the mischief these children get into is caused by boredom."

And there are a couple of more sentences which are interesting: "If you notice, girls haven't been doing these brutal things, and that is because most mothers show more patience in having a child do the same things Mom is doing."

"It takes patience, but it's amazing how quickly even a three-year-old will try to cooperate with you just to be with you." In other words she thinks the thing to do is to give your child lots of love, a sense of being needed and above all, a sense of importance. Make a child know that what he is doing for or with you is IMPORTANT and the chances are that he will never become a juvenile delinquent.

And here is an extract from a letter from Marvin McLarty Sr., of Lubbock, Texas, with an entirely different idea:

"I was talking to a young fellow in my church the other day and he said, 'We are going to have to do something about the Old Folks—they certainly got this old world into a hell of a shape.' And he adds this question, 'Have our older folks conducted themselves so as to have the RESPECT of our youngsters?'"

Have they?

Try and Stop Me

—by Bennet Cerf

Dr. Morris Fishbein knows a man in the luggage business, who has a unique system for enjoying his vacation. "I drive out to the airport," he said, "just to see the planes take off and arrive" asked Dr. Fishbein. "Nah," scoffed the luggage man. "Who cares about that?"

But I get genuine pleasure from seeing the redcaps scuff up the suitcases."

Fellow bought a jug of moonshine from a West Virginia Mountaineer but was back at the still an hour later, complaining, "The stuff is so strong I can't even swallow it." "You can't swallow it?" cried the mountaineer. "What's strange about that? It takes two men to drink my whiskey!"

My sympathy goes to the dean of the mid-Western university who sighed, "It's too bad colleges don't teach everything some of the prosperous alumni think they know!"

Chiang Wants Long Term Mutual Defense Program

Washington, October 26—A secret demand by Chiang Kai-shek is what is behind the mystery-shrouded parleying with him.

The Nationalist Gissimo is insisting on a long-term mutual defense pact. That's his price for bowing to American policies on military operations against the Red-ruled Chinese mainland.

There are sharp differences over that, between Taipei and Washington, and between the State Department and Pentagon. Chiang is using this backstage situation to press his demand.

The U. S. does not have a formal alliance with him. This is in direct contrast to such treaties with South Korea, the Philippines, Australia, New Zealand and Japan. Last year, when Chiang proposed a pact with him, he was politely brushed off. The matter was discussed for a while and then quietly dropped.

Chiang sought this agreement after President Eisenhower's fanfare announcement that the "wraps were being taken off" the Nationalists to wage aggressive warfare against the Communist mainland.

This year the Nationalist leader made another effort when the Southeast Asia protective accord was being worked out. But again he was rebuffed, on the ground that key members of SEATO balked at permitting the Nationalists to participate at its start. It was contended Chiang would add to the difficulties of the new alliance.

He had to accept this second rejection, but bided his time for another try.

His chance came when the Reds began hurling violent threats about seizing Formosa and shelling Quemoy and other Nationalist-held islands near the mainland. In quick retaliation, Chiang's American-trained and equipped air-force blasted the Communist coast over a wide area.

As these bombings expanded in volume and range, their justification was challenged by the State Department.

It was argued the raids exceeded the bounds of "legitimate self-defense."

Those two words are the crux of the agreement which determines the use of the hundreds of millions of dollars worth of military equipment the U. S. annually ships to Formosa. This key clause reads, "The Chinese government will use the U. S. military material to maintain its internal security or its legitimate self-defense."

In the event of violation of this provision, the U. S. can recover these arms and refuse further shipments.

Pentagon insiders say Britain was at the bottom of the protests. It is claimed London became fearful that the spreading Peking-Taipei war would endanger Hongkong, and complained to the State Department. The British have long made no secret of disliking Chiang.

Secretary Dulles, urgently in need of support for the newly-born SEATO on one hand and for gravely - periled NATO on the other, sided with the British view. Stringent restrictions were imposed on Nationalist operations. In effect, Chiang was told to confine his air and naval attacks strictly to enemy troops and offshore positions.

The Bargaining—Chiang acceded to this "edict."

It was opposed by Admiral Arthur Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and Major General William Chase, head of the military mission on Formosa. They favor giving Chiang a free hand to fight the Reds. But despite this powerful support, the Nationalist Gissimo did not force the issue.

Instead, he sent a personal letter to President Eisenhower renewing last year's proposal for a long-term mutual security pact.

That's what caused the flurry of parleys and that mysterious trip of Assistant Secretary of State Walter Robertson to Formosa. Chiang's wily maneuver threw the State Department into a dither on two counts:

(1) Secretary Dulles is still cool to entering a mutual security pact with the Nationalists and too busy at present to consider the matter. (2) Chiang has cannily given no indication what his terms are—and the worst is feared.

From Americans in Taipei word has been received that the Gissimo wants a defense treaty to apply not only to Formosa but to all Nationalist islands.

That means if they are attacked the U. S. would have to defend them too.

Secretary Dulles is against that. Radford and other Pentagon officials favor such a commitment in some measure. Chiang is demanding a formal U. S. alliance to make clear to the whole world that the U. S. will back the Nationalists for a long time to come.

That's what he wrote to President Eisenhower, and that's the complex problem the Administration is trying to solve.

Politeness Kills Ban On Hunting

—by H. G. Heller

Farmers, in the main, are generous, hospitable folk.

These are characteristics which almost everybody seems to take for granted—especially hunters who have already been in action for woodcock, ducks, and a few for the bow and arrow season for deer.

Many farmers are hunters themselves, but they are willing to share the game on their properties with considerate people from cities and towns who have no land to enjoy the pastime.

Because a small percentage of hunters abuse their guest privilege, many farmers buy and post no trespass signs just before the small game season opens.

They hope thereby to eliminate possible danger to humans and livestock and to protect their property through closure of their land.

What is not often realized is that no trespass signs serve principally to keep the desirable type of hunter from entering on their property. The trouble-makers and the irresponsible seldom pay heed to such notices.

Actually, safety zone warnings posted 150 yards from farm buildings offer greatest protection. They remind the forgetful and the irresponsible of the section of law forbidding the discharge of hunting arms within a safety zone unless permission to do so has been granted by the occupant.

All sportsmen's organizations here have joined forces with the Game Commission in promoting better relations between hunters and farmers through the observance of the following rules of safe, decent conduct:

Drive into the farmer's yard and ask permission to hunt, but don't block his lane. Respect his wishes. Stay off newly seeded fields or other areas where he asks no hunting be done. Hunt no closer than 150 yards to farm buildings, and never near farm workers, livestock or poultry.

Be clean in your outdoor habits on your host's land. Set no fires. Close gates, be careful not to break down fences and don't park at field entrances. Leave the farmer's fruit and other produce alone.

At the end of the day's hunt, thank the farmer for the privilege of hunting on his property. If you return another day on the farm, show your gratitude by presenting a member of the family with a gift. If the farmer has poultry, eggs, fruit or vegetables for sale, buy your supplies from him.

Trespass signs would virtually disappear, if each of these easy to do acts were performed by ALL licensed hunters.

My New York

New York—If you-all out on the prairies want to know what we in Cosmopolis have been up to lately, well, the truth of the matter is that Chicago has been overshadowing everything else in New York for some little time now.

I figure that this should be splendid news to those worried citizens who are not quite sure that the last war was the one to end all wars and have been waiting for some sign that the world is normal again, the way flagpole-sitting provided such a sign a few years after the first war to end all wars. Soon the goldfish-eaters should return and there we will be, all tight and secure again.

Laffaire bingo reared its head a few weeks back when a sub-police chief, apparently in whimsical defiance of the unwritten order, shut down a few bingo games here. While he was enforcing the law, which says bingo is illegal gambling, the cop was demoted in rank, told to stand in the corner and doubtlessly warned that every bone in his body would be broken if he tried to enforce that law again.

Incidentally, we have here a new police commissioner whose every move is awaited breathlessly by the public. Only the other day he demoted a detective who had the temerity to hold an umbrella over Rocky Marciano, a friend of his, on a rainy day before the Charles fight. It was the detective's day off, but the commissioner said it didn't look good. Later, he re-demoted the detective—I mean promoted, don't I?—so that match ended in a draw.

You would have fallen off your chair had you seen how Laffaire bingo swallowed up all else in New York, almost including the World Series. The politicians, the clergy, the Union Square soapbox speakers and even a squad of innocent bystanders got into the act. Whichever party is in power—I can never remember—said it was going to campaign to legalize bingo. The other party, whichever that is, said about the same thing. I think. Politics confuses me, especially with the exotic ramifications they enjoy here in Gotham.

There have been more pros and cons voiced than in anything since the McCarthy hearings. Members of several religious sects which play a good deal of bingo, to help raise funds for church work, defended it stoutly. Members of other religious sects, which do not play bingo, attacked it. Sermons were preached in pulpits for and against it. All that was missing was a statement out of Baltimore by H. L. Mencken, ease his tortured bones to the effect that bingo originally was invented by the devil, and by weltschmerz, he was for it 100 per cent.

What confuses me is how a pastime like bingo can arouse such interest. This is the old kids' game of lotto, isn't it? I have walked past churches in the west 40s, over near the Hudson, and seen the bingo games going on in the basements and, peering in, I have been dismayed. There is no atmosphere, no enchantment, no je ne sais quois.

Far is I can see, people sit around under harsh, overhead lighting, in bare rooms, and grimly watch their numbers to see if they have a certain number in a row. If they do, they win money. This does not seem to me as thrilling as in my old lotto days of childhood, when, if you got the numbers in a row, you were entitled to yell loudly, "Hey—I won!" No money, but plenty of glory.

35-Mile Speed Limit Approved For Three Borough Streets

No Passing Zone Decreed Near Schools

THREE THOROUGHFARES in Stroudsburg have been approved for restricted speed limits and a fourth has been designated for a "no passing" zone at the request of Stroudsburg Council.

The "no passing" zone involves W. Main St., in the area of the Stroudsburg High School and Morey School.

Council has sought State approval of no passing zone in this region for over two years. The borough was once turned down, but again filed a resolution requesting approval.

Letters from the State Highway Department traffic division advised that the request had been granted.

The borough plans to erect adequate warning signs as soon as the street is opened after sewer lines are installed and the street repaved. It is expected the state will apply the solid white traffic line denoting "no passing."

The restricted 35-mile speed limit was approved for Park and Decher Avenues, and a portion of Phillips St.

Portion of Phillips St. approved, after council submits a new resolution, extends from 5th St. to Lindbergh Ave.

State advised that because one side of the street from that point to Lackawanna Trail is in Stroud Township, the borough's request for the full length cannot be granted.

Council voted last night to ask Stroud Township supervisors to collaborate with the borough in getting the remainder of the street under restricted speed.

Board Signs Agreement

BANGOR—Lower Mount Bethel Township school directors have signed articles of agreement to enter the Bangor-Roseto school jointure.

The agreement was countersigned last night by Bangor directors, and Roseto directors are expected to sign Thursday night.

The 17 directors of the three boards will meet next Wednesday to draw up a budget.

The jointure will be from kindergarten through 12th grade. It calls for no immediate construction. Costs will be shared on a per-pupil population basis.

Bangor will have seven directors, and Roseto and Lower Mount Bethel will have two each, on the joint board.

Joint Roseto-Bangor directors agreed to appropriate $25,000 for construction of a cafeteria at the Bangor School. Also allocated was $3,000 to setup a student's driver-training course. Board members said they would probably hire a teacher to instruct in driver training during the summer or on Saturdays. The money pays for salary of teacher and maintenance of the car.

John W. Sabatine, former principal of Roseto public school, was named elementary school supervisor of the Bangor Area Joint School.

Driver Jailed After Accident

A CHARGE of drunken driving was made against Aaron C. Villaman, 59, Wilkes-Barre, arrested at 6:56 p.m. yesterday after an accident at Lake Harmony intersection.

Fern Ridge State police said at the crossing of Routes 115 and 903, Villaman ran off the road and crashed into a guard rail. He was taken to a local physician and pronounced intoxicated.

Villaman was committed to Monroe County Jail. He will be arraigned this morning before Justice of the Peace Herbert G. Bonser, East Stroudsburg. Damage to his car was estimated at $150.

Troopers said it was the first accident investigated by the Fern Ridge detail in about a month.

Polk Township Residence Sold

MR. AND MRS. Raymond Costenbader, Polk Township, have sold a Polk Township residence, according to deeds recorded yesterday at the Courthouse.

Grantees were Mr. and Mrs. William J. Hartman, Stroudsburg RD3. The property is on the road from Kresgeville to Brodheadsville.

Fire Occurs In Neon Sign

STROUDSBURG firemen were called to lower Main St. about 5:30 p.m. yesterday to extinguish a small blaze inside an electric neon sign in front of the A. C. Miller furniture store. Evidently a short circuit occurred inside the sign and overheated the wires.

More pedestrians are killed during the hours of dusk and darkness than during the hours of daylight.

Reeders Area Reports Second Polio Patient; School Children To Receive GG Inoculations

POLIO struck a Reeders housewife yesterday.

At the same time, plans were made to inoculate all Jackson Township School children with gamma globulin today.

The housewife, Mrs. Barbara Rustine, 20, mother of a three-month-old girl, was taken to St. Luke's Hospital, Bethlehem. She was reported in "fair" condition last night.

Mrs. Rustine is the second polio victim from the Reeders area. First was Arthur Koerner, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Koerner, who live between McMichaels and Appenzell. He was also reported in "fair" condition at St. Luke's.

It was in connection with young Arthur that the mass inoculation was ordered. He had been attending school at Reeders.

Dr. R. Frederick Jones, county medical director, said a supply of gamma globulin was ordered from Harrisburg's State Health Department, which in turn receives the supply from the National Red Cross.

The supply, sufficient to inoculate about 150 people, is due today by parcel post.

Of the people to be inoculated, about 120 are students at the Reeders school, who were in contact with Arthur Koerner.

Dr. Jones mentioned that the State and national health authorities lay down a specific "yardstick" by which to test whether a person should receive GG. All those who fit this yardstick experience will be inoculated. The school children and about 20 more people who have had particular types of contact with the victims are in this category.

The mass inoculation is the first held in Monroe County, though similar "Operation Cuckoo" have been commonplace throughout the nation this year.

It is necessary for written consent of the parents to be presented before a student may be inoculated, Dr. Jones said.

The inoculating will be done by Dr. Jones; Dr. E. T. Horn of Tannersville; Mrs. Marion Field and Mrs. Ann K. Shafer, State Health Clinic nurses; and possibly Mrs. Horn, who is a registered nurse.

Yesterday's victim, Mrs. Rustine, had been ill since Oct. 9. The diagnosis of polio was made by Dr. Horn and Dr. Claus Jordan, following a test of spinal fluid.

The young woman was driven to St. Luke's by her father, Morgan Butz, Reeders, who by coincidence lives right next door to the Koerner family.

The Koerner lad's sister, Shirley, was taken to St. Luke's as a polio suspect, but was discharged with a clean bill of health Monday.

County Gives Okay To New Parking Lot

COMMISSIONERS have given the go-ahead on construction of a new 12-car county parking lot.

They accepted the offer of Howard A. Lininger to do the job for $364. The lot will adjoin the Courthouse, at rear of the county building on Sarah St. A shale surface will be used.

Stroudsburg Borough Council gave permission for removal of one parking meter to allow for an entrance into the lot. Both entrance and exit will be on Sarah St.

Dance Announced At Brodheadsville

BRODHEADSVILLE—A young people's dance will be held here in the auditorium of Our Lady of Peace Catholic Church today at 8 p.m. Bill Fisher's orchestra will supply the music and refreshments will be served.

Mrs. Warner Dies While Shopping Here

MRS. OLIVE Warner, 45, Scotrun, was stricken fatally by a heart attack on Main St., Stroudsburg, while she was shopping about 5:25 p.m. yesterday.

She had just left the office of Dr. Philip F. Ehrig where she was employed. She was dead on arrival at East Stroudsburg General Hospital.

County Coroner Dr. Charles H. Rushmore said a heart ailment caused the death. Mrs. Warner's body was released to Gantzhorn funeral home, Tannersville.

Mrs. Warner was the daughter of the late James and Matilda Hilliard Fraile of Appenzell. She was a member of Scotrun Lutheran Church.

Surviving are her husband, John; son, Harold, and two daughters, Ruth and Violet, all of Scotrun; four sisters, Mrs. Cornelius Falch, Rye, N. Y., Bertha Fraile, Shawnee, Thelma and Ada Fraile of Appenzell; six brothers, Raymond of Palmerton, Elwood of Portville, Pa., Homer and Horace of Brodheadsville, Russell of Reeders, James Jr. of Appenzell.

Services will be at 2 p.m. Friday at Gantzhorn funeral home, with Rev. E. T. Horn officiating. Burial will be in Scotrun Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home after 7 p.m. Thursday.

Boy Moved To Kis-Lyn

A 14-YEAR-OLD BOY held in connection with an attack against Linda Metzgar, 5, Hamilton Township, will be transferred today from Stroudsburg to Luzerne County Industrial School for Boys at Kis-Lyn.

The youth will be taken there by Probation Officer J. Clarence Shafer.

The boy has been held in juvenile detention quarters in the county jail since he was taken before President Judge Fred W. Davis Saturday. He was ordered held in temporary custody until a juvenile court hearing was set.

The hearing date has not yet been set, said District Attorney Elmer D. Christine, mostly because authorities wished to see how Linda Metzgar responded to treatment.

The move to Kis-Lyn is a continuance of the temporary custody, Christine said.

East Stroudsburg General Hospital reported the girl as "improved" last night. She was removed from the critical list Sunday.

She had been reported critical since her grandfather, George Metzgar Sr., found her in a cornfield near the Metzgar home, with blood streaming from her head. The child had suffered two skull fractures. Police said the juvenile told of being with her at the time, but said she fell while running.

Sunday School Convention Opens Tonight

THE ANNUAL convention of the Monroe County Sunday School Association opens tonight in the East Stroudsburg Presbyterian Church.

By special arrangement with Rev. Frank Wingerter and the congregation of the host church, the convention will meet with them in the observance of Church Family Night.

The guest speaker will be Rev. Basil Lert Sananin, assistant clinical director of the Presbyterian Leprosy Hospital of Thailand. Mr. Sananin is presently in this country for study and speaking tours.

President Warren Godshall will preside at the convention session. Special music will be provided by the choir of the Presbyterian Church under the direction of Walter Schlough.

Rev. Harold Uimer, pastor of the Evangelical United Brethren Church of Saylorsburg, and program chairman of the Sunday School Association has arranged for several local pastors to conduct the devotional periods of the evening meetings.

The public is cordially invited to attend the convention.

Blakeslee

Mrs. Grace W. Bush
Ph. Poc. Lake 16R33

MR. AND MRS. Robert Keiper returned Saturday evening from a week's vacation spent in the New England States.

Sunday Miss Sally Kerriek, R.N., returned to her home in Cortland, N. Y. after spending a week with relatives here.

There are a number of ladies in the community canvassing for members for the PTA.

Mr. and Mrs. John Kerriek of Locust Ridge enjoyed a trip thru the New England States last week.

Many neighbors and friends were shocked on Monday when it became known that Miss Patsy Regan had died very suddenly in New Jersey where she was teaching in the Summit schools.

The Regans have been summer residents of this place for a number of years.

Mrs. Regan passed away last fall.

Mrs. Herbert Keenapple of White Haven who has been ill for several weeks is at the home of her parents here recovering.

Mrs. Gomer Davis and daughter Betty returned to their home in Wilkes-Barre after spending several weeks as the guests of Mrs. J. M. Stark.

Mr. Frederick Blakeslee spent the weekend with his mother, Mrs. Dorothea Blakeslee.

Mrs. Thomas Manley and children spent Saturday in the Stroudsburgs.

The official and Sunday School boards of the Methodist church met Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Peter Hawk. Rev. Joseph Helle, the pastor conducted the business session. Mrs. Daniel Starner was elected chairman of the Sunday School board and Mrs. William Staples of the official board. Reports from the treasury show all bills paid and a substantial balance. Rev. Helle will conduct a class to study for church membership which will begin in January. There were a number of donations for the building fund made last Sunday when Homecoming was observed.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Hawk assisted by her daughters Ruth and Shirley and Susan.

Open Meeting Scheduled By Resort Bureau

ALL PERSONS interested in the resort industry are invited to attend an open meeting of the Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau Thursday at 7:45 p.m. at the Penn-Stroud Hotel.

Bureau President Henry Arneberg issued the invitation last night. Arneberg said the meeting will review activities of the bureau during the past year.

Discussion will be held concerning plans and suggestions for the coming year. Vacation Bureau directors said a meeting of this same type attracted considerable interest last year and they feel this week's meeting will be even more profitable than before.

Juniors Begin Play Rehearsals

NEWFOUNDLAND — Rehearsals have begun for the annual dramatic presentation of the junior class of the Greene-Dreher-Sterling High School to be staged in the local auditorium, Friday, Nov. 5.

Being readied is "Just Ducky", a three-act comedy. Mrs. Catherine Miller is directing.

Cast includes John Manhart, Alice Gilpin, Lois Green, Barbara Smith, Lewis Butler, Richard Urdel, Nancy McLain, Arthur Frey, Terry Mulrooney, Howard Stevens, Thelma Skelton and Catherine Head.

Edwin Bigger, 51, Succumbs To Illness

TOBYHANNA — Edwin Bigger, 51, of this village, died at East Stroudsburg General Hospital yesterday morning following a week's illness.

He had been a resident of the village about six years. Born in Philadelphia, he was the son of Mrs. Sue May Fenimore Reed and the late Thomas Bigger. He was paymaster for 30 years at the Camden, N. J. plant of RCA. Since moving to Tobyhanna, he had been employed by a number of contractors in the area. He was last employed by Pocono Gas Co., Cresco.

He was the first president of Tobyhanna Lions Club; member of Coolbaugh Township Fire Co.; and Philo Lodge, F & AM, Philadelphia. Surviving are his mother; wife, Gladys; son, Edwin Jr.

Services will be at 2 p.m. Friday at Frey funeral home, South Sterling, with burial at Pine Grove Cemetery, South Sterling. Friends may call after 7 p.m. Thursday at the funeral home.

American farmers and farm co-operators are using more credit this year than in any year since 1942.

Mrs. Fiessler, Bridge Street, Expires At 79

MRS. ANNA L. Fiessler, 79, of 74 Bridge St., Stroudsburg, died at 1:45 a.m. yesterday at Kellersville.

She and her husband, Frederick, had been making their home with a daughter, Elizabeth Schroeder at the Bridge St. address. She was born in Dresden, Germany. She came to Monroe County with her family from New York City 37 years ago.

She attended East Stroudsburg Grace Lutheran Church.

Surviving in addition to her husband and daughter are three sons, Hans, Jersey City, N. J., Fred and Rudolph, of Hollywood, Fla.; grandchildren, nieces and nephews.

Services will be at 10:30 a.m. Saturday at Dunkelberger and Westbrook funeral home, Stroudsburg, with Rev. William F. Wunder officiating.

Burial will be in Laurelwood Cemetery, Stroudsburg. Friends may call at the funeral home after 7 p.m. Friday.

B-Negative Blood Rushed To Patient By Red Cross

MILFORD—In reporting on the progress of plans for the Bloodmobile visit here today, Dr. Harvey Klier, blood program chairman of the Pike County Chapter, American Red Cross, indicated that many more donors were required to approach the quota for this visit. To date, very few volunteers have been registered.

Although Pike County residents have been doing a creditable job on the bloodmobile program, it is falling behind somewhat this year on its donations of blood, Dr. Klier said.

One of the really important aspects of the blood program was demonstrated a few weeks ago when a Pike County resident was in dire need of B-negative blood at St. Francis Hospital in Port Jervis. Although there are only two B-negative donors listed on the Pike County blood lists (and these two donations had been used long before this call), the required blood was made available within five hours from the center at Wilkes-Barre.

This was done through the co-operation of a number of agencies—the Wilkes-Barre Center dispatched the blood container by bus to Stroudsburg, where a representative of the Pike County Chapter picked it up and rushed it to the needed patient in Port Jervis.

An interesting facet of the amount of blood which has been supplied free to Pike County residents is indicated in the answer to a telephone conversation between Miss Helen Van Etten, of Milford, executive secretary of the Pike County Chapter, and Harold S. Buttman, administrator of the Northeastern Pennsylvania Regional Blood Center at Wilkes-Barre, which was confirmed in the following letter:

"Please refer to our recent telephone conversation regarding a possible list of recipients from your chapter who have received blood in neighboring hospitals.

"Attached you will find such a list of recipients who received blood at the Monroe County General Hospital in East Stroudsburg and the St. Francis Hospital at Port Jervis. A total of 133 pints of blood was given to your residents from the center during the period March, 1954, through August in these two hospitals.

Eisenhower Address To Be Telecast

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19 (AP)—President Eisenhower will make a nationwide television-radio political broadcast from Washington the night of Oct. 28. It was announced today. That will be in the last week of the congressional election campaign.

The national Citizens for Eisenhower Congressional Committee announced it will pay for the radio-TV time.

The address is to be at 9:30 p.m. (EST). Radio-TV details have not been worked out.

James L. Murphy, chairman, said the citizens committee has been receiving funds at a "greatly accelerated rate" since the President's recent speeches. Murphy told a news conference on us at any time we can be of help. Best wishes for a productive visit on October 20.

The Bloodmobile will be at the Milford Presbyterian Church today from noon to 5:30 p. m. A convenient registration blank for donations has been arranged by the recruitment chairman and all able-bodied residents of the county and other interested folks are urged to make an appointment. # 3-Way Bonus

that's sweeping Buick to record sales in October!

BUICK
BONUS

Record-making allowance in October

One look at the national sales figures tells you this: Buick is outselling every other car in America — regardless of price class — except two of the "low-priced three." And just to keep sales soaring — we're willing to give a whole lot of allowance this month — to keep success rolling in high. So come in — get a car and a deal that are too good to miss.

BUICK
BONUS

Higher resale value

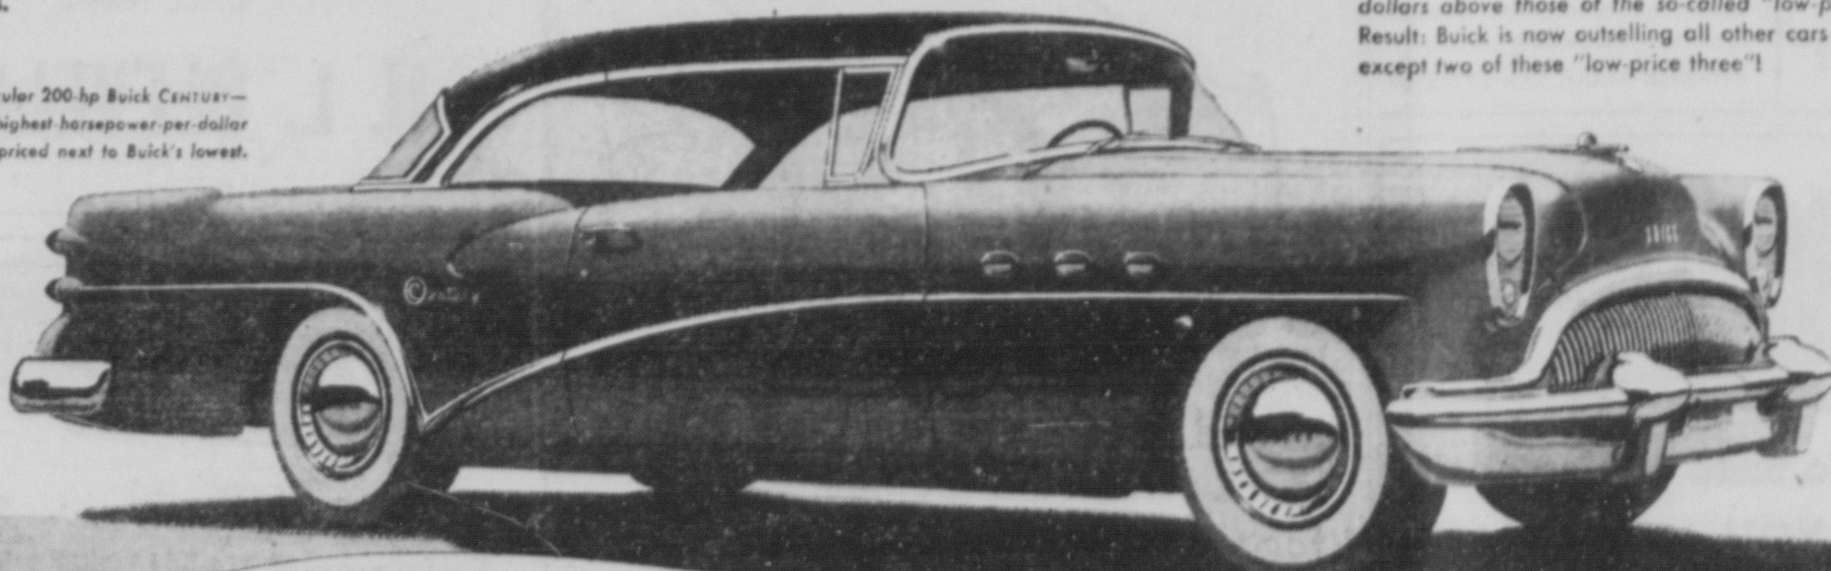

Year after year, Buicks have always carried a high resale value. But the 1954 Buick has an even bigger edge in its year-ahead styling. It will still be fresh and new-looking when other '55 models come out. So the new Buick you buy today will keep you plenty of dollars ahead when you trade it in.

BUICK
BONUS

Tomorrow's styling today

You can see it on every new Buick on the road — glamorous new-day styling keyed by that broad panoramic windshield that most other cars won't have till 1955 or later. And with this advanced styling, you get Buick's record-high V8 power, luxurious room and comfort, that famed Million Dollar Ride — and all for prices that start just a few dollars above those of the so-called "low-price three." Result: Buick is now outselling all other cars in America except two of these "low-price three!"

Birds Often Prove To Be Nuisances

By DAVID G. BARELIER
AP Real Estate Editor

BIRDS ARE WONDERFUL, but they can be nuisances, too. They can wake you up at an ungodly hour with their cheerful chirping. They can cause you to strain your eyes with long staring through binoculars, once you become a bird watcher. And they can break their little necks trying to fly through picture windows — the same way hundreds of them collide with the Empire State Building.

But one of the funniest stories about birds and a householder came from one of our readers who made the mistake of thinking that those little holes some architects draw under a gable actually represented bird houses.

This man's wife loved birds. His attic needed ventilation, too. So gallantly he cut a pyramid of holes in the ends of his house to give the birds a nice warm place to build their nests in his unused attic. He soon learned that birds and bats in the attic can be as bad or worse than squirrels.

It reminds this reporter of the time his father had a fireplace built in his house. Worked fine the first winter, perfect draft, no smoke. But the next fall on the first brisk day, with company arriving, Dad decided to show off his new fireplace with a big log fire.

Paper, kindling and logs were all in place. Everybody had settled down for a nice chat. Mother decided it was the dramatic moment and if we were going to have a fire we ought to have a fire. She struck a match as casually as she would light the kitchen stove. Smoke billowed into the room.

"Who could expect a woman to know how to start a fire?" Father roared, and with a grand flourish he switched the damper handle in the opposite direction. Still more smoke poured into the room from the kitchen, windows were opened wide and the company put on their coats.

The next day we found that swallows had built a dandy tight nest in the chimney.

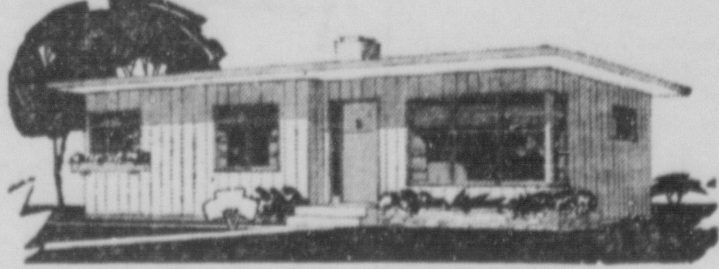

Now pigeons have been interfering with services at the First Baptist Church in Paducah, Ky. Mr. G. L. C. recently wrote to us about it, because we had mentioned a bird repellent in an aerial can which you can spray on the top edges of window shutters and eaves to discourage roosting.

Pigeons present a problem that has baffled the best bird brains in the cities of Philadelphia and New York, among others. Electric shocks have been tried, but of course churchgoers wouldn't want to find doves of peace electrocuted on the doorstep. Recordings of frightened bird screams have been tried too. You hold the bird upside down by its legs and shake him in front of a microphone. He screams in terror. By playing such a recording continuously under the eaves or other roosting places, you can scare the other pigeons away. But we can't imagine bird screams harmonizing with a hymn or sermon. So some other terrorizing device is in order.

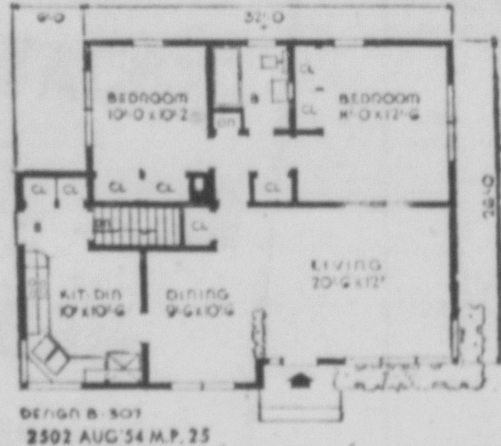

Pigeons fear lizards, some one told George C. Johnson, president of the Dime Savings Bank of Brooklyn. His bank has an imposing portico supported by ornate columns. The pigeons thought this was built for them, and roosting over the doorway they added hazards to all financial transactions.

In desperation, Johnson had his janitor suspend a wiggling toy green rubber lizard high up under the portico. It seems to be alive when a breeze strikes it. For more than a year now, the pigeons have been fooled and they watch the coming and going of the bank's clientele from more distant perches.

Columbia University liked the idea and tried it over the entrance to its chapel. The toy reptile scares the university pigeons in spite of their learned environment. With worshippers now en-

DESIGN B-307.—The exterior finish shown on this house is vertical siding, although other material could be substituted. The combination roof and ceiling joists are dead level, well insulated, covered with pitch and gravel roofing and designed to carry necessary snow loads.

The plan includes a living room combined with a large dining bay, two bedrooms, bath, kitchen and a full basement. The kitchen is an efficient workroom with dining space, corner sink under corner windows and a coat and supply closet in the entry. There are wardrobes in the bedrooms, closet and linen cabinets in the hall and a living room coat closet. The floor area is 966 sq. ft. and cubage is 16,422 cu. ft.

Key Points For Prospective Home Buyer To Consider

BEWARE THE HOUSE with "cut corners." A leading real estate appraiser, aware that the novice home buyer can make serious mistakes because of lack of knowledge concerning good construction, has compiled a list of important factors to consider in purchasing a new house:

1. The bathroom. Are its walls of waterproof and durable material? Are the plumbing fixtures full-sized? Walls which cannot stand up under steam and water, and tubs and hand basins that are too small are poor investments.

2. Drain pipes. Are they of long-lasting, non-rusting copper or aluminum, or of material which will eventually rust out?

3. Stairs. Are they solid, or do they creak?

4. The kitchen. Has it adequate lighting? Are its walls and splashbacks of fireproof, easily cleaned material, and are there plenty of waterproof work counters? Look into storage facilities. No kitchen is efficient without plenty of cabinets.

5. The moldings? Moldings around the lower edge of the baseboard should meet the floors snugly. A gap at this point may indicate green lumber.

6. Woodwork. Rough spots may be due to inferior lumber.

7. Laundry facilities. Is the washday area conveniently located? Is it waterproofed? Are the plumbing lines adequate?

8. Heating system. This, plus insulation, is of prime importance in house value. Inferior equipment costs money in repairs and maintenance.

Wet Basement Aid
WET BASEMENTS can often be corrected by sloping the lawn grade away from the house so water will drain away from the foundation.

tering the Columbia chapel fearlessly, we think that night work in Paducah.

"Don't just scatter rubber lizards and snakes on ledges," advises Mr. Johnson. "That was tried in Philadelphia and the birds roosted right on them. It seems the reptiles have to be in motion."

So hang 'em up and let 'em wiggle.

Keep Gutters Free Of Twigs And Leaves

NOW IS the time to clean out the roof drainage system. Failure to remove leaves and twigs from gutters and downspouts can have troublesome and costly consequences during the winter months just ahead.

When the drainage system is clogged, water standing in the gutters and ice and snow from succeeding storms piles up on the roof, trouble is likely to occur when the temperature is high enough to cause thawing. With the gutters frozen solid, water works its way up the roof and under the shingles where it seeps through the roof deck, damaging ceilings and walls.

Joints in gutters and downspouts should be made secure, and badly rusted and damaged sections replaced.

Fall also is the time of the year to make sure the roof will give weather-tight protection during the winter when snow, ice, high winds, and alternate periods of freezing and thawing give roofs a hard battering. Check the flashing around dormers, chimneys and soil stacks and be sure the flashing is tight.

Roof areas adjacent to projections through the roof deck are potential weak points in the roof, and a periodic inspection is recommended to be sure there is no point where water can find its way into the interior.

Casement Window Harmonizes Well

ONE OF THE unique and interesting things about casement windows is that a group of casements seem to harmonize well with each class of construction and almost every period. Casements give a friendly air to a house, and blend beautifully in most cases.

There are steel casements and wooden casements, either of which may be used to advantage on a half-timbered house. If desired, transoms may be built over the casements and they may be fixed or allowed to open.

Out swinging casements are less likely to leak than a casement which swings into the house. In the outswinging casement, the screen must be placed on the inside.

Why Paint Fails

ONE OF THE common house paint failures is non-drying. Paint will not dry properly if applied too heavily, or if applied to a damp, dirty greasy surface. Before painting, it is important to wash the surface with a detergent, rinse and let dry. Scrape off all loose particles and smooth rough spots with sandpaper.

Dining Room Disappearing From Modern Home Planning

THE COMPLETE disappearance of the dining room in modern home planning frequently presents a problem. Although the trend today in small homes has shrunk the dining "room" to a section of the living room, there is no reason for the area to be given short shrift as a strictly functional spot.

The merger can be graceful and with a little forethought and planning, the "dinettes" can become a definite asset in the over-all decor.

Whether it's a space conserving small house or a one-room apartment, the rules for setting up an attractive, efficient dining area are the same; keep it functional and keep it compatible with the rest of the furnishings of the room.

On the functional side of the planning, remember that the area will have to stand up under intermittently heavy "traffic." So keep the floor free of any covering that will spot easily and show the wear and tear of regular, moving of the furniture into dining position. Accidents will happen, too, and it is easier to wipe up a gravy stain from a well-waxed floor than from expensive broadloom, that eventually will have to be replaced.

When choosing furniture for the dining area, keep in mind the fact that it must be a good mixer. Match modern to modern and traditional to traditional. The careful and clever home decorator may even blend the two periods in the way that seems to work pretty well nowadays. Provide for entertaining as well as for family use, pick the pieces that are comfortable for two or three and yet spread themselves hospitably for eight or ten. Furniture has been designed for just that purpose—drop-leaf tables that extend for buffet suppers, coffee tables that grow into dining table size; desks and chests with pullout sections that become tables.

For step-saving convenience locate the dining table—regardless of the type chosen—closest to the kitchen. And for practical purposes, place it so that no, or few, pieces of furniture in the living area of the room have to be shifted to accommodate each dining hour. Finally be sure to make some provision for serving—a small table or a handy chest, for instance that can be used as a storage spot for silver and linens.

Barkley Given Edge In Voting Despite Age

By DON WHITEHEAD

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 19 (AP)—The long parade of years which brought high honors and public affection to Alben W. Barkley now appears to have become the old warrior's greatest handicap in his bid to return to the U.S. Senate.

Barkley is 76 and his Republican opponent, John S. Cooper, is 53. The span of 22 years that lies between them may prove to be a more potent influence than all the others combined in determining the winner in this contest.

At the moment, there is general agreement along the sidelines that Barkley probably will be returned to the Senate seat which he left six years ago to become vice president of the United States and to win the title "The Veep."

Some people think the age question will not cause a ripple in the vast reservoir of good will on Barkley's side.

But a good many political sources say privately that Barkley's age is a beneath-the-surface campaign factor causing uneasiness even in the Democratic high command. No one is quite sure just what influence it will have in the race and that's why there are reservations to the predictions of a Barkley victory.

One Kentuckian put it this way: "Odds on Barkley to win are just about what they were on Cleveland to beat the New York Giants in the World Series—8 to 5. But don't be too surprised if Cooper turns up as the winner just as the Giants did."

Cooper realizes his handicaps, the greatest being that he's a Republican running in a state that normally is Democratic. To win, he admits he must get a solid Republican vote, capture the independent vote, and pull some of the Democratic vote over to his side.

The remarkable thing is that Cooper and some others think he can do it. Cooper did it in 1946 when he was elected to finish out the Senate term of A. B. "Happy" Chandler (Democrat) who resigned to become commissioner of baseball. He did it again in 1952 when he was elected to complete the term of the late Democratic Sen. Virgil Chapman.

In the unpredictable way of politics, age has become a factor in the Barkley-Cooper race while in other states there are candidates older than or almost as old as Barkley and their age appears to be no handicap. These include Democratic Senators Green (R), 87; Murray (Mont), 78; Neely (W.Va.) 79; and Gillette (Iowa), 75. Other Senate oldsters are George (D-Ga.) 76, and Lehman (D-Lib-Ny), 76.

Some politicians think Barkley has helped his chances by meeting the age question head-on and not trying to duck it.

Cooper makes no issue himself of Barkley's age except when he tells his audiences: "I want to give you the best six years of my life." But the implication is not lost.

One of Cooper's major handicaps lies in the fact that most of the state's unemployment is in the soft coal industry of eastern Kentucky—generally regarded as a Republican stronghold. And there the United Mine Workers of America leaders are working hard for a Barkley victory.

In the past, Cooper has won by coming out of the Republican 8th District and the 3rd (Louisville) District with enough votes to overcome big Democratic majorities piled up in western Kentucky. Cooper says he will do it again—but political observers for the most part don't go along with this estimate.

A sampling of opinion in Kentucky's eight congressional races indicates there'll be no change in the present lineup of six Democrats and two Republicans.

Dr. F. T. Munson will be out of town Oct. 19-20-21-22—Adv.

It's Too Bad 1955 Will Have Only 365 Days; More Than 400 Special Dates Already Slated

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19 (AP)—The U.S. Chamber of Commerce today took a look at next year and came up with a bright forecast: Most every day will be a holiday in carefree 1955.

From the first to the last, the chamber reports, there's a special day, week or month all the way.

The year will begin on a somewhat antiseptic note—Odorless Decoration Week, Jan. 2-9—and end with hilarity—December is Holiday Eggnog time.

In between the special days and weeks pile up until they tumble over each other. And anyone who reads the chamber's little booklet, "Special Days, Weeks and Months," is forced to this conclusion: The years must be made longer.

With more than 400 events and observances already scheduled, it's obvious that 52 weeks and 365 days don't allow our enterprising promoters sufficient operating room.

Take a year from today, for example. Conscientious celebrants will be observing Pass the Laugh Week, United Nations Week, National Bible Week, National Donut Week and National Macaroni Week.

There's something for everyone. Do you like our furred and feathered friends? Then you have Cat, Dog, Caged Bird, Be Kind to Animals and Save the Horse Weeks to look forward to.

And, especially, you can look forward to the cow.

Thanks to a hard working Chicago outfit, the American Dairy Assn. she has become, indirectly, the most celebrated of all.

No less than eight months have been set aside to glorify her products.

March, one-dish meals with cheese time.

April, cottage cheese-cling peach salad month.

June, dairy month.

October, cheese festival.

By this time, the American Dairy Assn. boys suddenly realized they had only two months left and four month-long celebrations to go. But they were undaunted.

November is both gift cheese shoppers time and butter baked turkey time, while in December it's both holiday butter cookies days and holiday eggnog time.

Anyone who wants to make sure he isn't missing out on anything, such as National Pickle Week, may get his own booklet by sending 25 cents to the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, 1615 H St. N.W., Washington, D.C.

Treasury Balance

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19 (AP)—The cash position of the Treasury Oct. 14: Balance $7,438,119,941.98, deposits $14,796,076,347.26, withdrawals $21,210,853,865.96, total debt $278,846,816,229.96, gold assets $21,809,358,999.13. X — Includes $332,534,599.12 debt not subject to statutory limit.

Rail, Aircraft Stocks Push To Higher Ground

NEW YORK, Oct. 19 (AP)—Gains of two to three points were posted by some railroad and aircraft shares today as the stock market moved generally higher.

The airlines also were active and higher. And here and there throughout the list, selected issues advanced a point or more.

Paced by Atlantic Coast Line, Seaboard Air Line, Union Pacific and Northern Pacific, the rails moved to a new average high for the year. Douglas, Boeing, Sperry and Glenn Martin were the favorites in the plane-makers' section. United Airlines scored an advance of more than a point in its group.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 70 cents to $135.60.

Volume was on the light side at 1,900,000 shares. Yesterday also was rather quiet, with 1,790,000 shares changing hands.

Advancing stocks numbered 566 and there were 337 which declined. Issues traded totaled 1,191 against 1,163 yesterday. There were 45 new highs for the year and only three new lows.

Most of the news today was favorable, marketwise. Several important companies reported good earnings, and there were announcements of increased dividend rates.

In addition, there were forecasts of good Christmas business for department stores and of better times ahead for the long-depressed textile business.

In other sections of the list, good gains were made by Armo-

Steel, Bethlehem, Goodyear and Western Union. Among the few wide losers were Rohm & Haas, Allied Chemical, General Foods, and Columbia Pictures.

Club Reviews Events Of BPW Week

The Business and Professional Woman's Club will review local observance of National Business and Professional Women's Week at their meeting on Thursday night at the Penn-Stroud Hotel. During the week just ended, members of the club have appeared on radio broadcasts, there have been news releases and shop window displays.

In their publicity they stressed the national objectives of the Business and Professional Woman's Club federation. From Marguerite Rawalt, the federation's president, they took the seven points of their year's theme "Adventures in Achievement."

The points included patriotic service, positive Americanism, daily prayer, radiating happiness, being good citizens, fine on the job work and helping create new jobs.

As part of the national project to "Get Out the Vote," the local club plans a concentrated drive.

On the local level, the Business and Professional Woman's Club has as its long range project a Home for the Aged in Monroe County. A continuing project is Educational Loan Fund. Since 1952, they have spearheaded the Polio Drive and Mothers March on Polio.

The program on Thursday night has been arranged by Mrs. Ruth Rinehart, chairman of public affairs.

Plans will also be made to attend the Fall District Conference to be held October 23 and 24 at Pocono Manor.

Book Review At WSCS Meeting Thursday Night

The Women's Society of Christian Service of the East Stroudsburg Methodist Church will meet Thursday night at 8 in the guild room. Mrs. Robert Shively, librarian at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, will review the book, "Seven Steeples," by Mary Hendrickson.

Mrs. Shively is a graduate of Colby College in Maine, and the School of Library Science in Boston. She is former librarian at Pennsylvania State University.

All the women of the church and their friends are urged to attend.

Baby Is Named

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Klingel of Tannersville have named their infant son Terry Donald. He was born Thursday, October 7 at 11:41 a. m. at the Monroe County General Hospital. He weighed 8 pounds, 8 ounces.

The Klingels also have two other children: Yvonne Kay, 4, and John Paul, 1. Mrs. Klingel is the former Shirley Doll.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

An older child in a family undoubtedly has many prerogatives but he also must bear the brunt of a lot of parental panic because he's doing things for the first time.

A first baby gets sterilized to the point of fanaticism, but a second baby can drop a lollipop on the floor and mother just blows at it to get off the germs. The bananas are mashed into mush for that first child, and the second gets handed the whole banana, with the skin on, even.

It seems that parents eventually get the idea that children are pretty indestructible despite their seeming fragility, and can live through parents' over-powering care as well as their blunders.

But it's a gradual process, this growing casual, and by no means ends with babyhood. The first child has to blaze the way to being allowed to skip naps, to later bed-times. They have to argue parents into letting them have that first date, into staying out after dark, into what is a proper time for a teen-ager to get in.

With the second child, parents are already prepared and take each stage as something you have to live through.

It even carries down to that sixteenth birthday, and getting their learner's permit. With the first, the whole family gets into the act with instructions, warnings, and conflicting directions until it's a wonder anybody gets through it alive.

By the second time, everybody sits quiet and relaxed. That is, comparatively speaking. They may apply their own brakes on the floor boards and close their eyes when it comes time to pass a car, but that's just reflex, not panic.

PTA Presents Lecture By Hypnotist

The East Stroudsburg Junior High School held open house on Monday night, sponsored by the East Stroudsburg Parent-Teachers Association. During the business session, with Elston Arnt, president, in charge, reports were given by Mrs. Clarence Plattenburg, secretary; and Mrs. John Smith, treasurer.

Miss Elizabeth Krierim spoke on behalf of the Youth Center and asked the PTA to provide chaperones on alternate Saturday night for the dances. Mrs. Howard Kintner will schedule the volunteers to call her.

Mrs. Martin Ellsworth explained the benefit lecture to be presented under the auspices of the PTA this Friday night, at 8 at the Junior High.

It will be a lecture by D. K. Ernst, hypnotist, who will speak on "Practical Psychology." He is widely-known as a lecturer on hypnotism as a science and demonstrates many of the principles of hypnotism in treating certain disorders, in recovering lost memory and other amazing feats.

Adult tickets may be obtained from Mrs. John Smith, 568 North Courtland St., from members of the PTA or at the door on the night of the lecture. Student tickets are being sold in the schools. Announcement was also made of the School of Instruction to be held in Milford, October 23.

The attendance prize was awarded Miss Irene Miller's, second grade parents.

There will be open house in the senior high school on November 15, it was announced.

Theodore Miller, principal of the junior high school, introduced the faculty before the parents joined them in the class rooms for consultation and a discussion of the coming year's work.

Refreshments were served after the meeting.

Mrs. Everett Is Honored On 86th Birthday

Mrs. William Everett was honored on her 86th birthday at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Shupp.

Those present included Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy S. Shupp and children, Linda and Gary, Billy Everett, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Everett, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Brong, and son, Keith, Mr. and Mrs. Randolph Mackes and sons Randy and Barry, Mrs. Raymond Gearhart, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Saxe, Mrs. Mabel Saxe, Mrs. Susan Malitarsz, Mrs. Levenia Hawk, Mrs. Cora Shupp, Mrs. James Hawk, Mr. and Mrs. William Everett and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd U. Shupp.

State PTA Names New Officers

Pittsburgh, Oct. 19 (AP) — The Pennsylvania Parent-Teachers Assn. has elected Mrs. Cecil S. Garey of Scranton to a three-year term as president.

Mrs. Garey, an English teacher in the Factoryville Junior and Senior High School, was elected yesterday to succeed Mrs. Alexander Grodin of Philadelphia.

Other officers include Mrs. Arthur Hughes, of Moscow, a vice president.

Visiting Grandparents

Dr. and Mrs. Howard R. Gray and son, Bradley Howard, of Selma, Alabama, have been the guests of Mrs. Gray's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Darr, 806 Monroe St., Stroudsburg. Mrs. Gray is the former Yvonne Arnold, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Arnold who lived in the Stroudsburg many years before moving to North Wales, Pa.

The Grays toured the Poconos and plan to tour the coastal states before they return home.

Postponed GOP Card Party Draws 100

Nearly a hundred card players gathered at the Penn-Stroud last night for the party the Monroe Council of Republican Women had to cancel on Friday, because of the hurricane and lack of lights in the hotel.

Mrs. Irving B. Kiffin announced the luncheon for the state and local candidates on Friday at the Penn-Stroud arranged by Ben K. Williams. Tickets may be had from Mrs. Kiffin and Mrs. Floyd Bachman.

Three special door prizes were given to Mrs. Harry Kresge, Mrs. George Dunning and Mrs. Bert Palmer. Mrs. Eli R. Travis and Mrs. A. C. Huber, co-chairmen, and their committee, Mrs. Adolph Rake, Mrs. Earl Primrose and Mrs. Horace G. Helleg received a vote of thanks for their efforts in making the rain-check card party such a success. A prize and tally books with patrons' names were distributed at every table.

Mrs. Wright invited all Council members to stop in Republican headquarters in the Indian Queen at any time during the afternoon from now on until election day.

Chairmen Of Local PTA Introduced

During the Stroudsburg Parent-Teachers Association meeting preceding the program on Monday night, Mrs. Roger Shimson presented the chairmen of the committees who will serve with her during the coming year.

Francis Shinn, program co-chairman with Mrs. Shinn, announced that Open Houses at all the schools of the town would be held in place of the November meeting. Open House at both the Ramsey and Morey schools will be held November 15 at 7 p.m., and at the high school on November 16 at 7:30 p.m.

Mrs. M. Stiles Baldwin, membership chairman, enrolled many new members at this first meeting, with the open houses expected to bring in many more.

Robert Schell, chairman of recreation, asked for volunteers to serve as chaperones at the Youth Center on alternate Saturdays. Those not yet listed may call him directly.

Mrs. T. L. Metzgar, president of the Music Parents, explained the Music Roster Membership campaign and urged the support of all parents.

A. W. Munson, principal of the high school, introduced two new faculty members: John C. Whitehead, social studies, Harry Robertson, art, and Raymond Serfass, mathematics.

Roger Dunning, elementary school principal, announced that Mrs. Romyne Richards, Miss Barbara Transue, and John Scingle were new members of the elementary faculty.

It was also announced that members of the Stroudsburg PTA wishing to attend the School of Instruction at Milford on Saturday could call Mrs. Stimson to arrange for transportation.

Married Couples Welcome New Pastor, Wife

The Married Couples Class of the Stroudsburg Presbyterian Church last night welcomed their new minister, Rev. John Bolter, and his wife to their fellowship at a covered dish supper at the church.

Frank Grimm, president, presided at the business session when the class voted to pay another $50 on its building fund pledge. Members were also asked to attend in full force the formal installation of the new pastor this Thursday night at 7:30 at the church.

Hosts for the supper were Mr. and Mrs. Russell Harmon, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lee and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Stevens.

Barrett Club Has Reports On Projects

Barrett — Progress on a nursery school for Barrett Township, a trip to the United Nations and nomination of officers marked the meeting of the Barrett Community Club held at the Glenmere Hotel on October 6.

An application for a license for the nursery school has been made, Mrs. Mary Rush reported. The Buck Hill Camp Club has offered to loan equipment to the school, she said, and room will be available at the Barrett YMCA.

The United Nations trip for club members will be held on November 29 when the group will leave on the 5 a.m. train, Mrs. Ruth Sieg, chairman of arrangements, reported.

The club voted on a future meeting place, and selected the YMCA. Also available, Mrs. Janet Brush reported, were the Methodist Church and Buck Hill.

Mrs. Peggy Lewis, chairman of the nominating committee, announced the slate of officers drawn up by the committee for the November elections: President, Mrs. Billie Kerk; first vice president, Mrs. Lillian Price; second vice president, Mrs. June Young; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Marge Sopko; recording secretary, Mrs. Jackie Moffett; treasurer, Mrs. Priscilla Texter; sergeant at arms, Mrs. Charlotte Verney.

Additional nominations from the floor added the following names: President, Mrs. Marge Thomas and Mrs. Swannee Dunn; first vice president, Mrs. Yvette Phil and Miss Katherine Roos; second vice president, Mrs. Mary Rush and Mrs. Eleanor Biles; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Thelma Black; recording secretary, Mrs. Helen Miller and Mrs. Ethel Stern; treasurer, Mrs. Nina Gravel; sergeant at arms, Mrs. Helen Koch and Mrs. Ruth Lewis.

One of the projects of the club will be to dress dolls for needy children at Christmas time. The dolls will be supplied by the Lions Club. Mrs. Jackie Moffett asked for volunteers to make doll clothes.

The club also voted to sponsor one of the Friday night dances held for local teenagers. President Betty McCambridge announced an executive board meeting for October at the home of Mrs. Priscilla Texter.

After the business meeting, Harry Drennan spoke on the possibility of a community swimming pool. He recommended that before a project like this be undertaken that a federation of clubs be formed.

After the meeting refreshments were served by Mrs. Harold Kreek, Mrs. Russell Dann, Mrs. Paul Miller and Mrs. Stephen Moffett.

Literary Group Discusses United Nations

Portland — The Literary Group of the Portland Woman's Club met on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Bert Transue.

A general discussion of the United Nations was held. Those attending were Mrs. Isabella Kennedy, Mrs. Charles Hilferty, Mrs. Ray Transue, Mrs. Ethel Seely, Mrs. John Early, Mrs. Ernest Courtney, Mrs. Frank Gardner, Mrs. G. J. Davies. Visitors were Mrs. Charles Hilferty Jr. of Westfield, N. J., and Mrs. Daisy Decker, of town. Refreshments were served.

Press Auxiliary Has Halloween Party

The Pressman's Auxiliary held a Halloween party at their meeting last week at the C. L. Club. At that time costume prizes were awarded to Marion Bousley, Joan Andrews, Sarah Lambert, Florence Siproth, Elsie Rogers, Alvesta Goucher, Connie Baker, Helen Holland and Edna Topfer.

The welfare prize was brought by Alvesta Goucher and won by Kay Hollis. Plans were made for a bake sale to be held November 20.

Past President Here

Mrs. Harry L. Shinnen, "Sky-lark," Tyrone, Pa. RD 4, attended the Monroe County Federation of Women's Clubs meeting yesterday at Green View Farm. Mrs. Shinnen is immediate past president of the county federation. Mrs. Charles Cupper, her sister, also attended.

Moss is usually found on the north side of a tree.

The Record Social News

Barrett PTA Meets Tonight At School

Barrett — The Barrett Township Parent Teachers Association will hold its first meeting of the Fall tonight at the school. A brief open house will be held from 7:30 to 8 preceding the regular meeting.

George Webb, new principal of the Barrett Consolidated School, will be introduced and will in turn present this year's faculty.

A suggestion box will be provided at the meeting to which members are asked to contribute ideas or suggestions for PTA programs and projects.

Gala Party Marks First Birthday

Bartonsville — A gala birthday celebration was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Frantz of Tannersville, on October 14 in honor of the first birthday of their niece, Lana Kay Beeher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Beeher, also of Tannersville.

Supper, with two birthday cakes made by Mrs. Frantz and Mrs. Mildred Metzgar, was served with favors and funny hats for the children. Birthday greetings were extended to all those present with October birthdays: Melvin Bush and daughter, Marie, Nancy, Linda and Peggy Metzgar, Lana Kay and her paternal grandmother, Mrs. Clyde Beeher.

After supper, the adults enjoyed a social time while the children played games.

Present were: Mr. and Mrs. Clair Metzgar and children, Donald, Linda and Peggy; Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Metzgar and children, Barbara, Claudia, Dawson and Janice, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Fish and daughters, Rita and Myrna, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Metzgar and children, Mary Sue, Marshall, Allen and William, Mr. and Mrs. Dayton Frantz and daughter, Beverly, Mrs. Clyde Beeher, Mrs. Claude Metzgar, Mr. and Mrs. John Lits, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Raish, Beverly and Bobby Beeher, Della and Pauline Tucker, Lynwood Werkheiser, the guest of honor, Lana Kay Beeher, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Beeher, and the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Frantz.

Barrett GOP Council Hears Candidates

Barrett Township Council of Republican Women held its scheduled meeting Tuesday, October 12, at the home of the president, Mrs. Sue C. Price.

Candidates John S. Shotwell, William Scott and Leroy Mikels were introduced and each one addressed a few remarks to the Council.

Mrs. John Nauman outlined plans and distributed assignments for the November 2 election. Mr. Nauman is Republican Committeeman for Barrett Township.

A card party to be held at Cliff View on Wednesday night, October 20, was announced to the members, and everyone was urged to attend if at all possible.

A social hour following the business meeting. The following hostesses assisted Mrs. Price: Mrs. Martha Annear, Mrs. Ted Ford, Mrs. Ray Michener, Mrs. Charles Price, and Mrs. Jack Shumaker.

WHITE HIGHLIGHTS!

In your fall decorating plans don't overlook the value of white not only for accessories but for walls, furniture and floors. White is practical thanks to plastics, tiles and new silicone, the finish that makes fabrics look luxurious yet resists soot, wrinkles, mildew, moths and sun deterioration. When using white in large areas, accent it with brilliant colors such as fire red, peacock, tangerine or bitter green.

In your fall decorating plans don't overlook the value of plastic tile walls. These tiles can quickly and easily convert old walls into new. They are available in all the latest decorator colors. If you are really interested in attractive walls, for an economic outlay, we suggest you get particulars at the General Floor Covering Co., Inc., 727 Bank Alley, Stroudsburg. Phone 508-J.

Mitchell-Quigley Wedding Held In Scranton

Scranton — Virginia Ellen Mitchell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Mitchell, this city, and Joseph M. (Jay) Quigley, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Quigley, Nutley, N. J. and nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Feigel, Newfoundland, were wed in St. Mary of the Assumption Church here Saturday at 11 a.m.

Rev. Joseph Meier was celebrant of the nuptial mass which followed the ceremony. The altar was decorated with white chrysanthemums and clobotium ferns.

Jack Eckenrode was soloist during the mass with Francis J. VanMaanen as organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white nylon tulle and taffeta. The fitted bodice was designed with a petal effect, the scallops edging crisscross folds of nylon tulle and adorning the edges of the tiny short sleeves. Her bouffant skirt of knife-pleated tulle over layers of tulle featured a scalloped polonaise and detachable train of taffeta. Her veil of imported silk illusion was arranged from a matching helmet embellished with seed pearls and she carried a white prayer book adorned with an orchid and lilies of the valley.

Miss Joan Miller, Scranton, was maid of honor in a bronze-colored floor length gown of crystal featuring a fitted bodice and bouffant skirt fashioned with fullness at the back.

Bridesmaids were Miss Carolyn Navajosky, Scranton; Miss Gwen Gilroy, Harrisburg; Miss Mildred Pykus, Honesdale and Miss Betty Jane Heberling, Greentown. They wore fantasy green crystal gowns fashioned identical to that of the maid of honor. Miss Miller and the bridesmaids wore matching headpieces and carried colonial bouquets of bronze chrysanthemums.

John C. Mitchell Jr., brother of the bride, was best man. Ushers included: Holley R. Smith, La Anna; William P. Boyle, Ossining, N. Y.; Carl H. Young, Syracuse; Glen H. Treslar, Baltimore, Md.

Immediately following the ceremony, breakfast was served at The Dietrick and there was an afternoon reception at the Century Club for approximately 200 guests.

For traveling, Mrs. Quigley wore a charcoal grey flannel suit with matching accessories and white orchid corsage. Following their wedding trip, the Quigleys will reside in Johnson City, N. Y.

Mrs. Quigley, an alumna of Marywood Seminary and the Hahnemann Hospital School of Nursing, was on the staff of the Hahnemann Hospital here.

Mr. Quigley was graduated from the Greene-Dreher-Sterling High School and Cornell University, where he was a member of Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity. He is employed by the Burroughs Corporation, Binghamton, N. Y.

Being "stuffy" is one of the things most of us try to avoid, once we are old enough to grasp the derogatory meaning of the word. But I wouldn't mind being stuffy at all, if I could be one-tenth as cute as those whimsical, cuddly Steiff toys that come to us from Germany.

Children love them, of course . . . but I know at least one woman in our store who watches the new shipments eagerly, and is making a collection of the small animals. Her latest acquisition has been the very best and wise, Whittie, the owl. Selling at $2.19, this adorable nocturnal fellow reminds me for all the world of the nosy owl who avidly followed the pursuits of his neighbors in Walt Disney's classic film, "The Living Desert." Everyone is talking about this green-eyed, curious, blinking fellow . . . and everyone who's seen Whittie knows that here he is, unintentionally reproduced in soft plush.

Beautifully striped tabby cats sell from $1 to $6.65 each, and dog lovers have a choice of either white and black or tan and black fox terriers at $1. There is also a fairy-tale touch to Steiff's animal kingdom, thanks to Lixie—the Puss in Boots who is properly attired for his seven-league hike.

Floppy teddy bears, selling in a price range of $3.69 to $5.95, are perennial favorites with the young, naturally . . . and Zotty Bears are running a close second. Just inviting squeezes and drooly kisses, these bears come in a variety of sizes, all most appealing, priced from $3.35 to $13.95. There is also a chimpanzee named Jocke at $1, $1.25, and $1.98, in a choice of white, tan or brown. But of all the animals, the most realistic and utterly precious, from my viewpoint, are the leopards.

The afternoon the leopards arrived, Anna Haller was so delighted she visited practically every department displaying the big mother leopard with pink embroidered nose, realistic paws and claws, and glass eyes that seemed to follow you as you moved around. Priced at $19.95, this lady of the jungle has a litter of young, and we also offer other leopards of various sizes, prices ranging from $2.49 to $4.95.

East Stroudsburg High Lists Ten Injured Grid Stars

Cavaliers To Meet Wilson On Saturday

EAST Stroudsburg High School's football squad is featuring an injury list of 10 players at the present time. Several were hurt in last Saturday's tussle with Collingdale, another was injured in practice and still others are the victims of lingering injuries which refuse to respond to treatment.

The injuries range from severe bruises to a fractured ankle and Coach Jack Kist is undoubtedly wondering at this time if he is a fool-bell mentor or an authority on first aid.

Mike Palmisano, place kicking specialist and hard working tackle, is the victim of a painful charley horse which refuses to improve. Nick Patella, the other starting tackle, is still hampered by a damaged hip.

Bob "Booster" Miller, veteran center who suffered torn knee ligaments before the present season got underway, is having trouble with the knee once again. Roger Strouse, first string guard and one of the rising stars on the East Stroudsburg team, is limping on a bad right ankle and may not be ready for Saturday's clash with Wilson Borough, on the latter's gridiron.

John Shaffer, one of the number one replacements in the forward wall, is hampered by a charley horse; Bill Dimmick, was severely shaken up during the Collingdale scrap and Howard Smith, a guard, suffered a deep cut over his right eye in a recent practice session and required stitches to close the wound.

Gene Plaza, one of the best runners in the East Stroudsburg backfield, is suffering from bruised ribs. Frank Lupin, another highly regarded youngster, has an injured neck and Bill Sommers is still out with a "chipped" left ankle.

But Kist reported last night that he is hopeful of having Sommers back in action, at least offensively, against Wilson on Saturday.

Due to the midweek injury list Kist held a "skull" practice for his charges Monday and probably will have very little rough work for the squad during drill sessions this week.

Wilson is regarded by many as the team to beat for the Lehigh-Northampton League championship this season. Saturday's kickoff is slated to take place at 2 p. m.

Deadlock In Record Contest

JANET ARNOLD, 68 Bridge Street, and Dick Heckman, 516 Lindbergh Avenue, both of Stroudsburg, share top honors in the football contest of The Daily Record for the week ending last Saturday. They will each get one-half of the total first and second prize money of $15.00.

Picking winning teams posed a problem for many of the football prognosticators in this particular contest.

The winners each were wrong on five games of a 24-game list, but not on the identical games. Last week anyone who selected more than three losing teams did not finish in the money, and anyone with five wrong finished far down in the rack.

Next week may result in a winner being a perfectionist . . . or one with a half-dozen wrong answers. It is still interesting to try.

Blessing Of Loop Delayed

CHICAGO, Oct. 19 (AP) — The American League's formal blessing of the Philadelphia Athletics' new deal again failed to materialize today.

League President Tom Harbridge reiterated his stand of yesterday that he would have no statement "until final papers have been drawn for the purchase of the Philadelphia club's stock."

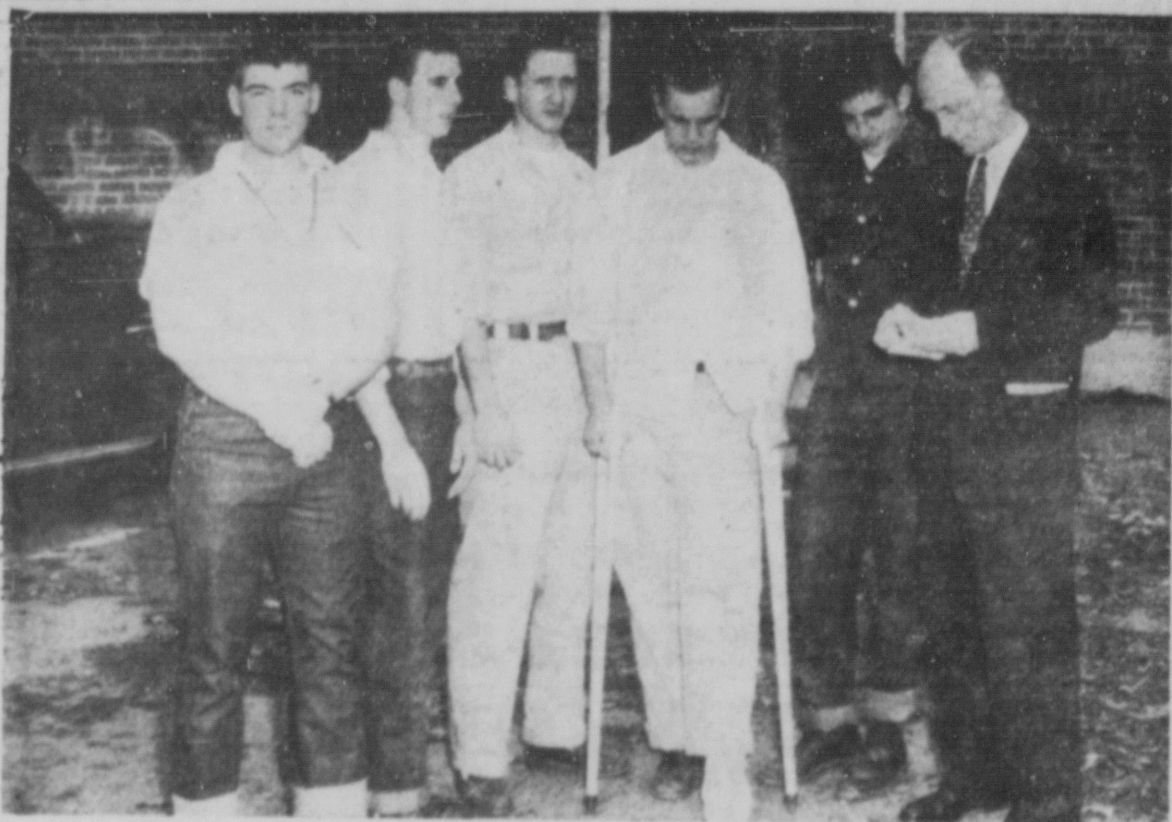

In the meantime, Harbridge is studying all angles of the sale of the A's by the Mack family to a group of Philadelphia businessmen. The league has the right to approve or disapprove the sale.

The eight new owners of the club have scheduled an organizational meeting in Philadelphia tomorrow and must be certified by the league before they are officially in business.

Pennsylvania Changes Rule

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 19 (AP) — Chairman Frank Weiner of the Pennsylvania Athletic Commission said today that Johnny Saxton would be fighting for the welterweight championship even if Kid Gavilan failed to make the weight for tomorrow night's bout.

Weiner said that if Gavilan were over the 147 pound limit at the pre-weigh-in, he would be given two hours in which to shed the excess weight. If he fails, then the title will be declared vacant.

Stroudsburg Opens Practice For Struggle With Whitehall

STROUDSBURG HIGH SCHOOL'S football squad got down to the task of preparing for its biggest Lehigh Valley League game of the season yesterday, as the coaching staff sent the Mountaineers through their initial official drill of the week.

The pupils of Coach Jerry Stulgaitis tangle with a strong Whitehall grid machine Saturday afternoon, at Whitehall. Action is scheduled to take place at 2 p. m.

Both teams are undefeated in league play, although Stroudsburg was held to a 6-6 tie by Emmaus. The winner of Saturday's contest will take over sole possession of first place in the present standings.

Lehigh Valley League Standings
Whitehall	Won	Lost	Tied	Points
Stroudsburg	2	0	0	1,000
Emmaus	2	0	0	1,000
Catasauqua	1	1	0	500
Northampton	1	1	0	500
Stirlington	1	1	0	500

Stulgaitis announced yesterday that he will appoint a captain for each of the remaining games on the schedule due to the fact that Captain Dick Hintze has been forced out of action by the fracture of the left ankle.

Hintze was injured in last Saturday night's battle with Bangor, in which Stroudsburg suffered its first defeat of the season. The Mountaineers' opponent in the contest is a 7-0 team.

Stulgaitis also announced yesterday that Don Deibler, head plunger, will be named captain for Saturday's contest at Whitehall. Dave Nevil will captain the Mountaineers against Catasauqua at Gordon Giffels Field a week from Saturday night. Bill Morman, veteran tackle, will be the field leader in the November 6 struggle with Stirlington, at Stirlington.

Hintze will continue to serve as captain, but will be unable to play because of the injury.

John Whitehead, Stroudsburg line coach, is grooming Dale Newhart to share the center duties with Ken Barthold for the balance of the season. Hintze was the regular center prior to his injury.

Newhart was the second string center on last year's squad but was turned into a defensive end this season.

Stulgaitis revealed that Hintze was the only player seriously injured in the Bangor tussle, although Miles Kirkhuff, hard working guard, was troubled by leg pains through the second half.

Otherwise the Mountaineers suffered only the usual number of bumps and bruises present in any hard played football game.

The Stroudsburg varsity squad held only a very light workout Monday, but got down to hard labor yesterday.

Mims Continues Ring Streak

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19 (AP) — Middleweight Holly Mims of Washington, number three challenger for "Bobo" Olson's title, ran his unbeaten string to 12 fights tonight with a unanimous 10-round decision over Bobby Lee of Baltimore. Mims weighed 167, Lee 157.

Referee Eddie LaFond scored it 99-90 in favor of Mims, while Judge Bob Dwyer scored it 100-93 and Judge Benny Alperstein 99-86.

The fight would go on as scheduled and if Saxton wins he will be recognized as champion by the state athletic commission because "if he can beat Gavilan at more than 147 pounds, he certainly could beat him at 147 or less," Weiner said.

His ruling would be valid only in Pennsylvania.

Normally, if a champion failed to make the weight, his title would be vacated but the fight would not be recognized as a championship contest.

Carter Begins Boxing At Harry's Farm

COLUMBIA, N. J. Jimmy Carter, former lightweight champion burning with the desire to regain possession of the crown, begins ring drills for next month's championship bout at Harry's Farm today.

Carter, who hopes to become the first fighter in lightweight history to hold the crown three times, is scheduled to battle Paddy DeMarco in San Francisco's famous Cow Palace on Wednesday, November 17.

Jimmy, who has gained a multitude of friends in this area, is scheduled to work with fast stepping like Johnson today. Carter is expected to work every day for the remainder of the week.

Johnny Greco, a highly regarded welterweight, is also slated to drill today.

"Chico" Varona, welterweight champion of Cuba, has been working out here at Harry's Farm for sometime, but is slated to visit New York today to be examined for next Monday's bout with Johnny Britton at St. Nicholas Arena.

No admission will be charged during the week, but a small admission charge will take place on Saturday and Sunday. Drills are slated to begin at 1:30 p. m.

Harry's Farm is located five miles above the Delaware Water Gap bridge on the New Jersey side of the Delaware River.

Carnevale Selected To Pilot Buffalo

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 19 (AP) — Danny Carnevale, one of the more successful managers in minor league baseball, tonight was named manager of the International League's Buffalo Bisons.

In seven years as a manager, Carnevale has never finished a season with his team out of the first division. His clubs have won four pennants and five play-offs.

Carnevale's appointment was announced tonight by John McHale, farm director of the Detroit Tigers, parent club of the Bisons. Carnevale, 36, is a native of Buffalo.

Last season, Carnevale managed the Wilkes-Barre club, winner of the Eastern League pennant. As Bisons manager, he succeeds Billy Hitchcock, recently named a coach for Detroit.

Carnevale, former infielder with the Scranton Miners, once an entry in the Eastern League, began his managerial career with Carbon-dale, of the class "D" North Atlantic League, now defunct, in 1948.

Lafayette Hit With Troubles

EASTON, Oct. 17—"Fumblistis," giving the coaches of the Lafayette College football team a lot of headaches.

In the last two games, against Carnegie Tech and Muhlenberg, Lafayette backs fumbled 20 times and those fumbles led directly to defeats.

In the Muhlenberg game two weeks ago, the Lafayette eleven is believed to have set some kind of a record in Maroon grid history by fumbling 12 times and losing the ball 10 times. Three of those fumbles led to Muhlenberg touchdowns and others halted promising Lafayette advances.

In the Carnegie Tech game, two fumbles resulted in Carnegie touchdowns. Lafayette lost that game, 23 to 21.

How to remedy that fault is the problem facing the Lafayette coaches in the game with Bucknell at Lewisburg next Saturday, one of Lafayette's major opponents this season.

In contrast to Lafayette's record this year of one and two, Bucknell is undefeated to date.

The return of Don McCarthy, fullback, and Tom McGrath, end, to the Lafayette lineup is expected to strengthen the Maroon for the game with the Bisons. Both have been kept out of the Muhlenberg game by injuries and reserves took their places.

Several other Lafayette players on the injured list also are expected to be ready by next Saturday.

Because of the tendency of the regular backs to fumble, the coaches are expected to experiment with some sophomore backs as possible starters against Bucknell.

Some changes also are indicated on the Lafayette line, as the coaches have expressed dissatisfaction with the play of some veterans on the line.

Diaz Gains Decision

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Oct. 19 (AP) — Miguel Diaz, 148, Havana, Cuba, scored a bloody, unanimous 10-round decision over "Rocky" Castillo, 146, Blue Island, Ill., in the Auditorium tonight.

ESSTC Booters Entertain Ithaca College On Home Field

EAST STROUDSBURG State Teachers College will attempt to even its present soccer record at two wins and the same number of defeats today when the Warriors play host to Ithaca College, on the Normal Hill field.

Action is slated to get under way at 3 p. m.

Coach Howard DeNike announced last night that he plans to shake up his lineup slightly and may have to face Ithaca without the services of Lee Hill, veteran outside left.

Hill has been bothered by a painful injury to a thigh muscle and is a very doubtful starter in today's tussle.

Last season ESSTC scored a 2-1 victory over Ithaca, when Ed Smith tallied both goals for the Warriors.

The DeNikesmen have defeated Elizabethtown College and lost to Panzer and West Chester.

ESSTC's Varsity "S" Club has printed programs for today's game, featuring lineups and player numbers, and will distribute the program prior to today's activity.

Struggle Rages For Top Spot

NEW YORK, Oct. 19 (AP) — Unbeaten teams and once-beaten but increasingly respected Army are making a mass assault on the top positions in major-college offense statistics. NCAA Service Bureau figures showed today.

Mississippi and Colorado boasting five victories each, hold first place in total offense, rushing and passing, and coming up fast are Oklahoma, Boston U., UCLA, Minnesota, and the Cadets, who have won three straight after an opening loss to South Carolina.

Mississippi took over the total offense lead from Colorado this week, bringing its average to 423.4 yards a game.

Mississippi also retained its aerial leadership, averaging 189.4 yards a game.

And Colorado kept its grip on the top spot in rushing by a wide margin. It has made 368.8 yards a game on the ground.

Varsity 'S' Club To Hold Major Meeting

STROUDSBURG's alumni Varsity "S" Club will hold its biggest informal meeting in the history of the organization tomorrow night at the Stroudsburg Municipal Building.

The meeting is scheduled to take place at 7:30 p. m.

George Ockershausen, assistant football and head wrestling and baseball coach at East Stroudsburg state Teachers College, will be the guest speaker at tomorrow's gathering.

Members of last Saturday night's terrific football game between Stroudsburg and Bangor High schools at Gordon Giffels Field will also be shown tomorrow.

The meeting will also feature refreshments for all those attending the gathering.

All members of the club are urged to attend the gathering at which time football, including past, present and future games, will be the general topic of conversation.

Graduates of Stroudsburg High, who are not yet members of the Varsity "S" Club, are also urged to attend the meeting.

Each spring the Varsity "S" Club presents a huge banquet at the Penn-Stroud Hotel to honor Stroudsburg High athletes of that school year. But never in the history of the organization has a big meeting like tonight's been sponsored by the club.

RILEY

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

Jack Kist, highly regarded football mentor at East Stroudsburg High School, informed this reporter yesterday that Jim Cox, Collingdale star, is the best back he has ever witnessed in action during his coaching career. Cox ran for seven touchdowns against the Cavaliers on Saturday, although three were recalled for rule infractions. Jim is six feet tall and weighs 170 pounds. He is a junior and has one more year of eligibility remaining in scholastic football.

Collingdale, regarded as one of the grid powers in the Philadelphia area, loses its entire starting line by graduation, but three backs, including Cox, will be returning for action next season. It appears as if the Collingdale-East Stroudsburg rivalry is at an end after only one game because Collingdale refuses to make the trip up here next year. The excuse is something about the band having to make all trips with the football team and that a trip to this area would be too expensive and too lengthy.

The Collingdale coach didn't substitute with any degree of frequency against East Stroudsburg until the final minute of play, even though his charges led at one point by a 33-0 score. The final count favored the home team by a 32-7 margin. Karl Weingartner, former Stroudsburg High football, basketball and baseball star, recently paced Forks Union Military Academy to another football victory, although he played only the last two minutes of the game because of a leg injury.

Weingartner entered the game with his team trailing by a 13-7 count and quickly passed for the tying touchdown and then ran 25 yards for the winning TD. Forks Union followed with a safety and in all scored 15 points in two minutes and won by a 22-13 count. It is also reported that scouts from some of the major colleges in the country are following Weingartner's trail.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Clark are currently vacationing at Twin Pine Ranch, in the Snyder'sville area. Andy is treasurer of the Philadelphia Phillies. Don Toth, who suffered a fractured collar bone in the Shippensburg football game two weeks ago, was one of the men on the line markers at last Saturday's East Stroudsburg State Teachers College-Mansfield battle in which the Warriors scored a 28-0 victory. Toth was in his third year of football on Normal Hill before suffering the shoulder injury.

I firmly believe that scholastic athletes owe it to their many fans to stay in the best mental and physical condition possible. It has been brought to my attention that some of our football stars aren't living up to training habits. It is beyond my knowledge how one or two boys can have the nerve to sell the entire school system short in an athletic event, just because they are too weak to walk the proper path. There are plenty of years ahead in which to fall into bad habits, years in which nobody will be hurt except the individual himself.

In reference to physical condition I mean training habits alone and in no way do I include injuries. Injuries aren't governed by the individual and in no way can a player escape bodily harm during an athletic contest. If it is in the books for him to receive such a blow, Bob Mushrush, veteran Catawqua basketball coach and former football mentor, was one of 173 men who successfully passed the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association football examination recently. Ed Sikorski, Emmaus, also passed the exam.

Granville "Granny" Evans, Bangor High football coach, has told friends that he will be very surprised if Stroudsburg doesn't win the Lehigh Valley League grid championship this season. Evans was greatly impressed with the Stroudsburg team that his Slators defeated by a 7-0 score Saturday night. Several Bangor fans who saw both the Wilson and Stroudsburg games have stated that the only difference between Wilson and the Mountaineers is Don Price, brilliant back for the team that handed Bangor a 20-7 reversal.

Stroudsburg players and fans can't even begin to think about titles until the Mountaineers leap gigantic hurdles presented by Whitehall, Catawqua, Slatington and Northampton. In other words the W. Main St. gridgers have a long row to hoe. Members of the PIAA may begin basketball practice on Monday, November 1. The Ed Ruskin who was badly burned in Mansfield last Sunday was the same gentleman who coached the Mansfield State Teachers College grid machine against ESSTC last Saturday.

Gavilan Puts Crown On Line

By JACK HAND

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 19 (AP)—After two postponements due to hand trouble and a case of mumps, "Kid" Gavilan finally is ready to defend his world welterweight title against New York's Johnny Saxton tomorrow night at Convention Hall.

The sleek Cuban remains a strong 19 to 10 favorite in the 15-round match, despite the usual rumors that he will have trouble making the 147-pound class limit.

Every time Gavilan goes to the post as a welter, you hear he may not make it. But he hasn't missed yet. It's beginning to sound like the same old story that preceded every defense of Sugar Ray Robinson when he held the welter crown.

The two fighters will weigh in at noon tomorrow at the offices of the Pennsylvania Athletic Commission for the nationally televised (CBS) bout starting at 10 p.m. (EST). The Philadelphia area will be blacked out but there will be a radio broadcast only in Philadelphia.

Promoter Herman Taylor talks of a gate of 11,000 and $80,000 with an advance sale of about $30,000. The advance sale just about matches the total paid back in refunds after the fight was postponed, July 14 and September 1. More conservative estimates hint the crowd may be no more than 8,500 and the gate about $60,000. The TV rights will bring another $40,000.

Gavilan, 28, hasn't fought since April 2 when he failed in his bid for "Bobo" Olson's middleweight crown. He used his right hand sparingly in that bout and later claimed he had injured the hand in a February 23 tune-up match with Johnny Cunningham at Miami.

The Saxton match was set back for the first time in July when Gavilan, trouncing Cuba with a song and dance unit, reported his hand still was in a cast. The September show was postponed on the eve of the fight when the doctors discovered "The Kid" had the mumps.

Fully recovered—Gavilan claims—the champ is confident of defending successfully for the eighth time and moving on to a match with challenger Carmen Basilio or another shot at Olson's 160-pound crown.

"He gives me good fight for five rounds," said Gavilan before leaving his Summit, N. J., camp. "After that I take him like I take Johnny Bratton in Chicago."

Saxton, 24, likes to crowd inside, nullifying the power of free swingers. The strong New York Negro never has been knocked out in 47 fights as a pro since 1919. He has 45-2-3 record, losing only to Gil Turner and Del Flanagan last year.

Committees Meet To Aid Minor Leagues

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Oct. 19 (AP)—

Three baseball committees met here today to map legislation giving the minor leagues a better break.

They met behind closed doors, and had nothing to say to the press, but everyone knew they were discussing ways and means of channeling further financial aid from the majors to the smaller circuits.

Separate sessions were held today, but the three groups will get together tomorrow to pool their ideas and suggestions.

On hand were:

A committee of major league farm directors: Lee MacPhail of the New York Yankees, Walter Shannon of the St. Louis Cardinals, and Jim McLaughlin of Baltimore.

The Minor League Executive Committee: Frank Shaughnessy of the International League, Tommy Richardson of the Eastern, and Herman White of the Northern, all loop presidents.

The Minor League Legislative Committee: Leslie O'Connor of Chicago, representing the open classification (Pacific Coast); Ed Doherty of the American Association, class AAA; Dick Butler, retiring president of the South Atlantic League who takes over December 1 as president of the Texas League; Howard Green of the Big State, and C. C. Hoffman of the Mississippi-Ohio Valley circuit. E. L. DeMaree of the Evangeline loop, representing class C, was the only committee member absent.

The three groups are expected to agree on minor-aiding legislation to be offered at the Houston, Tex., minor league convention, November 29 through December 3. The minor league draft will be held in Houston November 30 through December 2, following the major league draft November 22 in Commissioner Ford Frick's New York office.

The minor leagues have dwindled from 59 to 33 in the last few years, and much of the blame for the loss has been aimed at major league radio and television broadcasts into minor league territory.

Former Batting Great Dies In Boston Home

BOSTON, Oct. 19 (AP)—Hugh Duffy, whose .438 batting average with the 1894 Boston National League baseball team never has been equaled, died today at his home.

He would have been 88 on November 23. In 60 years only four batsmen in the major leagues have come close to Duffy's record. Willie Keeler batted .432 in 1897, Rogers Hornsby .424 in 1924 and Ty Cobb and George Sisler each batted .420. (MORE—MORE—MORE)

A junior-size powerhouse who stood five feet seven and weighed 150, Duffy was elected to the Baseball Hall of Fame in 1945. In 18 years in the major leagues, he not only set the batting mark on so high a pinnacle no one since has been able to reach it, but he also hit over .300 for 11 seasons and twice won the National League batting title. His life-time batting average was .330.

After his unparalleled .438 batting performance, Duffy recalled he was paid a "magnificent" salary of $2,400.

He was an active scout for the Boston Red Sox of the American League through the 1953 season. Sox General Manager Joe Cronin said "Not everybody recalls that Hughie was one of the founders of the American League, manager of the Milwaukee team in 1901 when the league got its start."

Three Matches Slated

THREE MATCHES are on the agenda for the Commercial "B" League keggers at Harmon's Recreation today, at 7 p.m. Schedule follows:

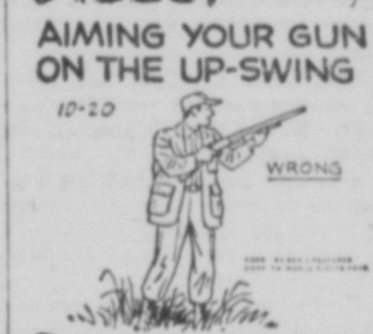

Alleys one and two—Farber's Inn vs. E. S. Beverage.
Alleys three and four—Eagles "B" vs. Stroudsburg Auto Body.
Alleys five and six—Ye Sailor's Inn vs. Frank's Barbers.

Southern California Star Named Football Back Of Week

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA'S Jon Arnett, who did a great job of upholding football form on a day when upsets were a dime a dozen and stellar performances equally inexpensive, is The Associated Press Back of the Week.

SPORTSMAN'S DIGEST
By Hal Sharp
AIMING YOUR GUN ON THE UP-SWING
10-20

Arnett was chosen today by sports writers and broadcasters as a worthy successor to such players as Purdue's Lenny Dawson and Ronald Clinckscale of Texas Christian in the balloting for this weekly honor.

The Southern California tailback, incidentally, is the second sophomore to be named Back of the Week this season. Dawson, the Purdue passing star, was the first.

Arnett, a 19-year-old speedster from Los Angeles, is quite accustomed to receiving such special mention. He was picked as "Player of the Year" in Los Angeles high school football in 1952; was a standout on the Southern California freshman team last year and was singled out as the Trojan sophomore most likely to succeed after spring practice.

This fall Arnett didn't take long to move ahead of senior tailback Aramis Dandoy in the Southern California lineup. Going into last Saturday's game against Oregon, he was the team's leading ground gainer, and he ran for 179 yards more in 18 carries and scored all three USC touchdowns in a 24-14 victory over the Webfoots. In addition, he completed four of five passes for 39 yards.

Still, Arnett didn't have a very big edge over such players as Albert Elmore of Alabama, Duane Nutt of Southern Methodist, Fred Wyant of West Virginia, Dick Biel-ski of Maryland and Tom Gastall of Boston University when it came to picking this week's standout back.

Other Back of the Week nominations included: Billy Hooper, Baylor; Henry Moore, Arkansas; Jim Swink, Texas Christian; Primo Villanueva, UCLA; Dickie Beard, Virginia Tech; Jim Harris, Oklahoma; Tom Bell, Army; Ev Pearson, Brown, and Ed DiSimone, Rhode Island.

Mays, Minoso Win 1954 Slugging Titles

NEW YORK, Oct. 19 (AP)—

Outfielders Willie Mays of the New York Giants and Orestes "Minnie" Minoso of the Chicago White Sox, a pair of powerful righthanded hitters, today were crowned the major league slugging kings for 1954.

Mays, returning from a two-year Army hitch to spark the Giants to the world championship, topped the National League with a lusty .667 slugging average. Minoso, in his fourth season in the majors, was the American League leader with .535.

Statistics compiled by The Associated Press revealed that Mays accumulated 377 total bases in 563 at bats. Slugging averages are computed by dividing a player's number of times at bat into his total bases.

Mays, who also led his league in batting, delivered 196 hits, including 33 doubles, 13 triples, most in the league, and 41 home runs.

Minoso, runner-up to Cleveland's Bobby Avila in the American League batting race, produced 304 total bases in 568 trips. The speedy Cuban collected 29 doubles, 18 triples, most in the league and 19 homers among his 182 hits.

In 1953 Minoso finished sixth in the AL slugging derby with .466. Al Rosen of the Indians captured the title with .613, but he slipped to third in 1954.

Brooklyn's "Duke" Snider trailed Mays for National League slugging supremacy with a .647 average and big Ted Kuszewski of the Cincinnati Redlegs ranked third at .633. Snider was the NL slugging leader in 1953, barely edging Milwaukee's Ed Mathews, .621 to .620.

Snider amassed 378 total bases, most in both circuits, in 584 at bats. Kuszewski, the major league home run pace-setter with 49, accounted for 366 total bases in 573 trips.

Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees trailed Minoso in the American League slugging parade with 284 total bases in 543 at bats for a .523 average. Mantle's collection of 163 hits included 16 doubles, 12 triples and 27 home runs.

57 Children On Rolls Of Aid Society

THE MONROE COUNTY Children's Aid Society board convened yesterday at the Penn-Stroud Hotel for its October meeting with Mrs. Jesse Flory presiding.

There are now 57 children in care, Mrs. Jean Albert, executive secretary reported, with one new child received into care in September. One new foster home was opened and there were two replacements.

In speaking of the foster homes, Mrs. Albert said that since last Sept. 8 new foster homes had been placed in service, all of them fitting well into the society's program.

To balance this, she explained, there is an increasing load, and homes that are closed for various reasons. Some have been active for 20 years; in other cases, illness or transfers have intervened. New homes are constantly needed.

Mrs. Flory reported on the state advisory board meeting in Philadelphia which she and Mrs. Albert and Mrs. Donald Gilpin had attended.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 2. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Wood Describes Opponent As 'Front Man' For Bosses, Cites Scandal-Free GOP Rule

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 19 (AP)—

Gov. Lloyd H. Wood, Republican candidate for governor, said today his Democratic opponent, Sen.

George M. Leader, would be "putty" in the hands of "selfish political bosses" if elected governor.

Leader was described by Wood as "an inexperienced legislator" who is a "front man" for Matthew

H. McCloskey Jr., Philadelphia

contractor and Democratic state finance chairman; Mayor David L.

Lawrence of Pittsburgh, Democratic national committeeman, and these reports," he said.

Earlier, Wood issued a statement at Harrisburg declaring citizens governed by Democratic administrations have heavier taxes than those governed by Republican administrations.

"The average per capita tax in 11 cities controlled by Democratic administrations was $21.00 in 1952.

In 39 cities governed by Republicans, the average per capita tax was $16.27," Wood said.

He explained the average per capita tax for all cities in 1952 was $17.31.

"On the basis of the per capita tax in Pennsylvania for 1954, the Census Bureau figures show it as

$57.90, while the national average is $70.31," he said, adding:

"Pennsylvania also has the lowest per capita tax of any comparable industrial state, the others being as follows: New York,

$74.46; Illinois, $60.63; Massachusetts, $66.85; Connecticut, $76.46;

Ohio, $64.43. California stands at the top of the list with a per capita tax of $101.92.

"Pennsylvania stands 38th in the list, with eight of the 10 lowest states in the agricultural South."

Democrats, he said, are not against a sales tax in other states.

"In North Carolina, a state ruled by the Democrats, 28 per cent of its revenue comes from the sales tax. Michigan, a state ruled by

Democrat G. Mennen Williams, raises 66 per cent of its revenue

by a sales tax.

"In 1952, Illinois, ruled by Adlai

Stevenson, raised 59 per cent of its revenue via the sales tax. Ohio, ruled by Democrat Lausche, raises

54 per cent of its revenue by a sales tax," he said.

Leader offered these other points

in his tax speech:

1. "The whole field of state finance will be studied, including the impact of specific taxes on our general economy and our employment opportunities. Those affected

will be heard. There will be no mad rush to bludgeon through a tax program."

2. "I am sure there has never been a party (Republicans) which asked for re-election to office on the ground that it has so thoroughly mismanaged a state's affairs that they themselves declare they have 191 millions of commitments for which the state has no funds."

3. These "obsolete" taxes would be eliminated: Three per cent

earnings tax on mutual savings institutions, the tax on cooperative agricultural associations and the tax on rural electrification cooperatives.

"We can do away with all these and not hurt the state financially."

4. The Fine administration and his GOP opponent, Lt. Gov. Lloyd

H. Wood, have erred in estimating the sales tax revenue at 135 millions. It should be closer to 90 millions.

5. The "first and best method" to replace revenue is by saving.

"The Chesterman report envisioned savings of as much as 100 million dollars a biennium. I am afraid its authors were too optimistic, but I do not concede that some important savings cannot be made in a budget of $1,491,906,920."

Leader, in explaining his pay-as-you-go plan for business taxes, said the corporate net income levy would not be involved.

Leader said Republicans advocated the sales and flat income levies which he described as bearing "most heavily upon those who have the least."

Leader offered these other points

in his tax speech:

1. "The whole field of state finance will be studied, including the impact of specific taxes on our

general economy and our employment opportunities. Those affected

will be heard. There will be no

Brawl Breaks Up Session Of Deputies

ROME, Oct. 19 (AP)—Italy's Chamber of Deputies broke up in a fist-swinging brawl tonight as Christian Democrats and Communists called each other "Fascist."

The outburst forced temporary suspension of the session which had been drawing near a vote of confidence on Italy's settlement with Yugoslavia of the Trieste dispute. The Senate has already passed a similar vote.

Shrieking "scoundrels," "idiots," "madmen," and "sons of dogs," the angered Communist left poured from its seats and struggled to reach the center benches.

Chamber President Giovanni Gronchi shouted for order, then blasted on his whistle which brought a stream of husky ushers down the aisles to forcibly hold the Communists back.

The disorder broke out when Christian Democrat Deputy Giuseppe Togni denounced the Communists as "subjects of a nation which is not Italy and to laws not made in Rome."

Communists shrieked "Fascist" at him and he yelled "Fascist" right back.

Forty minutes later Gronchi tried to reopen the session.

Togni started speaking again, saying:

"A lot of the Communists had served as Fascist spies..."

Howling with anger, the Communists charged from their benches and were met by a rush of Christian Democrats.

Fist fighting broke out over the whole open area in front of the president's stand. Nearly 100 deputies were milling about in the noise.

Fighting spilled over into corridors outside the chamber as Communists pursued some Christian Democrats who left the room.

HARRY WALTERS, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Walters, of Bartonsville, has enlisted in the U. S. Air Corps and left for Sampson Air Force Base, Sampson, New York, on Oct. 14.

Walters graduated from Pocono Township High School, Tannersville, in June of this year and prior to his enlistment was employed at the Hughes Publishing Company, East Stroudsburg.

Mr. and Mrs. John Allegar, of this place, and Miss Joyce Miller, of East Stroudsburg, R. D., attended the Roy Rogers Rodeo at Madison Square Garden, New York City, on Wednesday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Swingle and Mrs. Richard Metzgar spent Sunday and Monday in Wayne and Susquehanna counties. Mrs. Metzgar was the overnight guest of Mr. and Mrs. Rudy Harvatin of Forest City.

Sisters Claribel Frailey Sebring and Ann Louise Frailey celebrated their birthdays this week. Mrs. Sebring on Oct. 20 and Ann Louise on Oct. 23.

Related birthday greetings to Mrs. Russell Swingle, of Stroudsburg and Mrs. James Shannon, of Middlebury, who had birthday anniversaries on Sunday, Oct. 17. Mrs. Swingle is the former Evelyn Hartman of this place and Mrs. Shannon is the wife of Rev. James Shannon, former pastor of the Hamilton Lutheran church.

Communion services were held at St. John's Lutheran church on Sunday with Rev. John Bergstrom officiating. A solo "Bless This House" was presented by Eleanor Beecher, accompanied by Mrs. Floyd Cyphers. Bibles and altar flowers were in memory of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Setzer, and were given by their daughter Mrs. Mary Marvin. Ushers for the service were Joseph Dunbar and Haviland Heller.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Wallace, of Stroudsburg and Mrs. Daisy Allegar and daughter, Mary, of Bartonsville, visited Mr. and Mrs. Henry Karius and daughter of Binghamton, N. Y., on Tuesday. Mrs. Karius, the former Flo Wheeler, resided at the Forest Inn here for many years.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hutton and daughter, Katie Ann, of Bristol, spent Sunday at Hawkeshill. They reported that hurricane Hazel had hit their section much harder than the Poconos.

McCracken Gives Three Points To Follow As Good Americans

"STAND UP AND Be Counted" was the theme of an address given before the Lions Club of the Stroudsburgs last night by Joseph S. McCracken of Wilkes-Barre.

Mr. McCracken gave evidence of the effectiveness of loyalty oaths, as administered by many government agencies, in routing subversives and those who may be borderline cases.

Three points were emphasized by Mr. McCracken which are a "must" if America is to "stand up and be counted": First, stand loyally for those concepts which are set forth in our Bill of Rights; second, as a nation every individual must concentrate on some religious belief for we are one of the few remaining nations where people are allowed absolute freedom in selecting the form of worship they wish to adopt; third, our children being one of our greatest assets, we as Americans must assume the responsibility of acquainting them with, and demonstrating to them, the good things of our Constitution.

The speaker pointed out that America has the greatest public and private school systems in the entire world, but declared we must always be appreciative of how the system under which this great educational bulwark came into being.

Mr. McCracken is a past president of the West Side Lions Club of Kingston, Pa., as well as former athletic coach at the Citadel. At present he is supervisor of the veterans training program, Department of Public Instruction. He has long been active in affairs pertaining to Americanism.

Guests included Joseph Farada, Art Henning and Dr. Luther Martin, pastor, Church of the Mountain, Delaware Water Gap.

Liberian Leader Insists Under-Developed Countries Should Be Allowed Greater Say

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst
President Tubman of Liberia, now visiting the United States, thinks powers like the United States and Britain should get over the idea that the problems of under-developed countries are theirs alone to solve.

Nationalism among the big powers, he says, prevents them from seeing some of the wrongs in themselves and rights in others.

"If the smaller nations that are in the majority were given an opportunity to express themselves they might be able to advance some suggestions that may be helpful."

He thinks the Western Powers place too much emphasis on the efforts of the Communists to subvert national independence movements to their own purposes. This he says, should not be permitted to obscure "one of the fundamental and far-reaching developments of the present century," the unrelenting demand for independence by the heretofore subject or under-developed peoples.

That is one of the great problems of the time.

The world's experience, with Indonesia, for instance, has not been a happy one, nor is India pursuing what the west considers the best course.

In such times as these, with a great power standing ready to grab off every stray, where does the balance lie between the various independence movements and the community interest?

The trouble with a lot of independence movements is that peoples want to stand alone when they are incapable of it. Belgium and Holland and Norway, highly developed countries, and certainly independent, have learned that lesson within this century.

Coloring President Tubman's approach, of course, is the fact that Liberia has never been troubled either by communism or colonialism. It was sponsored directly by the United States. One of the interesting things about it is that the major job was done by private investment.

In these latter days, the government aid is designed as the forerunner of private investment. But this runs into snags. In the first place, since it is government-sponsored, it is suspicious as another form of colonialism.

Another great problem is technical. The countries which have the greatest need for development are the least able to offer incentive to private investment. Pakistan has just arranged to let foreign investors convert their profits into foreign exchange and take them out of the country. But Turkey, with a great modern program deliberately designed to attract private investors, is short of foreign exchange and has been unable to go so far.

From the security standpoint and from the economic standpoint about all the nations can do under present circumstances is to feel their way along, the large ones without arrogance and the small ones without intransigence.

In the past 20 years the death rate for U. S. boys 5 to 14 years old has been cut from 158 to 47 per 100,000 a year and for girls from 126 to 37.
